Newspapers In Britain Hit Khrushchev

Flay Soviet Premier Over Breakdown in Talk With Macmillan

LONDON (AP) — British newspapers on both sides of the political fence united today in blaming Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev because prime Minister Harold Macmillan had obtained no concessions from the Soviet in his Moscow visit.

Even newspapers of the Labor opposition conceded Macmillan had done his best.

No Promise of Success

Macmillan himself had promised only to return with information. He had warned he was going on a reconnaissance mission, "to try to break the ice and get some feeling of the general situation."

British spokesmen in Moscow admitted Thursday, after their chief flew to Kiev for the sightseeing portion of his trip, that the "feeling" Macmillan got was that both the Soviets and the West so far were standing firm on the related issues of divided Germany and West Berlin.

Britons generally had hoped for more. As a result, Macmillan's trip was widely termed a failure.

Speech Wrecked Talks

The papers agreed that Khrushchev's speech Tuesday, pouring cold water on the Western proposals for a foreign ministers' conference on Germany, had wrecked the British-Soviet meeting.

"It was Khrushchev's rough, rude speech — breaking confidences, abusing all and sundry, and belying the fair words spoken to Mr. Macmillan's face — which ended hopes raised by his visit to the Soviet Union," commented the conservative Daily Mail.

The final insult came with Khrushchev's toothache — a "diplomatic toothache" many called it —which prevented him from accompanying Macmillan to the Ukrainian capital of Kiev.

'Calculated Rebuff' Charged

"This looks very like a calculated rebuff to Mr. Macmillan," the Daily Mail said.

The headlines reflected Britain's letdown.

"Khrushchev wrecks talks" — The Laborite Daily Herald.

"Moscow mission negative" — Conservative Daily Telegraph.

"Unless there is a diplomatic miracle between now and Tuesday, the final communique will consist of empty words and platitudes," said the right-wing Daily Sketch.

Soviet Reaction Awaited To U.S. Boarding of Red Vessel on North Atlantic

MAN KILLED IN CAVE-IN. Rescue workers are shown digging in a sewer trench to free Dwaine Ulery, 23, a construction worker who was killed this morning when a sewer ditch caved in on him. Mr. Ulery, was trying to locate the sewer line in the Fair Park Addition prior to laying a lateral line to one of the new homes. Death was caused by asphyxiation, a physician on the scene said.

Fishing Boat Searched by Naval Crew

No Evidence Found To Indicate Cutting of Transatlantic Cables

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department awaited a report from the Navy today before communicating with Moscow on the boarding and high seas search of a Soviet trawler by a U.S. Navy team.

In a surprise action, U.S. sailors briefly boarded the trawler in fishing waters off Newfoundland Thursday.

They reported nothing to indicate the Russians had anything to do intentionally with recent breaks in transatlantic cables. What might have happened by accident was an open question.

A spokesman said the State Department would communicate with the Soviet Union through diplomatic channels as soon as a full report is received.

After searching the trawler, the Navy team reported: "No indications of intentions other than fishing."

The quick negative report, issued by the Navy here a few hours after the boarding was announced, lessened the potential impact of the incident on already touchy U.S.-Soviet relations.

There was no immediate indication how Moscow might react. Nations jealous of their sovereignty often resent the boarding of their ships by men of another nation.

Wells Given Rest

City Now Drinking Water From River

For the last week, Marionites have been drinking purified river water, rather than well water, it was revealed today by L. Otis Porter, manager of the Marion Water Co.

A trial operation using surface water from the Little Scioto River was started last Friday.

It has proved so successful that the company has been obtaining its entire supply — three and one-half million gallons a day — from the river, and will continue to use this source throughout the wet season.

THE WATER comes from a $750,000 reservoir and filtration plant installation now virtually completed. Construction of a dam and necessary pumping, filtration and purification equipment was started last year.

Use of the river water has done what the company had hoped it would — it has allowed the underground water supply to be recharged.

During the last week, the water table in the company's deep wells west of town has risen a total of four feet more than the normal rise expected at this time of year.

UNDER NORMAL conditions the ground water supply shows an increase during the period from the last of January through early June after which it decreases, Mr. Porter said. Each year for the last years, the table has been getting lower and lower.

Now by the use of the surface water, the company will be able to rest the wells for long periods during the wet months and it is expected that by the time the dry season rolls around in July the water table will be back up to its 1950 level, Mr. Porter said.

Over-all, the table already is 11 feet higher now than it was last year at this time, he said.

So far, the water being pumped from the river has been of high quality, Mr. Porter said. Later on in the year, when the water flow in the river slows, it may become necessary to treat the water with a charcoal compound to remove unwanted tastes and odors, he said.

Because the use of the river water has worked out so well the company is planning to continue

Chance of Rainfall Predicted Tonight

The mercury, in another fit of spring weather Thursday, rose to a high of 50, before sinking to an overnight low of 24.

A "trace" of precipitation was measured officially during the night and this morning clouds prevailed over the county.

The weatherman forecast the "chance" of showers by late afternoon today, with the possibility that they might carry over into tonight and Saturday morning.

It was 33 at noon today, with a high of 55 expected before nightfall. Tonight's low may be 32, with a high Saturday of 46.

Less Debate Over Berlin Is Requested

Senator Dirksen Asks Politicians To Permit Ike To Weigh Issues

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill) underlined the potential gravity of the Berlin crisis today by pleading for less talk on Capitol Hill while President Eisenhower weighs "the hour-to-hour developments."

Dirksen, the Senate's Republican leader and chief administration spokesman, cautioned in an interview against headline-making speeches or any hasty action that might affect critical negotiations.

Renewed tension over the Berlin situation exploded in the Senate Thursday with Democratic demands for a stepped-up defense program and for alerting the people to any eventuality — including the possibility of a shooting war.

Adding to the apprehension were the uncompromising tone of recent speeches by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and the apparent lack of any favorable results in Khrushchev's Moscow talks this week with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The talks ended Thursday with British reports that neither side was giving an inch.

May 27, about 90 days hence, is the end of a six-month period Khrushchev mentioned for talks over his demand last November that the Western allies pull their forces out of Berlin.

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), assistant majority leader of the Senate, asked for a full public discussion that is understood by the people "if they are asked to give their lives, as well they may be."

But three Republican senators—Hugh Scott (Pa), Kenneth B. Keating (NY) and Winston L. Prouty (Vt)—said after a conference with President Eisenhower they got the impression "the government is prepared to meet any situation." They declined to elaborate.

30 Are Injured Fighting Blaze

Loss Hits $250,000 In Downtown Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Thirty firemen were injured Thursday as they battled an estimated $250,000 blaze in a four-story building in downtown Toledo. Nine of them required hospital treatment. The others were given first aid at the scene by rescue squads.

Flames were confined to the upper portion of the Bronson building, scheduled for demolition to make way for a new federal building.

Some 100 firemen worked three hours to bring the blaze under control.

Destroyed was the Usher Furniture Co., where the fire was believed to have started. Goodwill Industries and an empty store in the building were damaged.

Cause of the fire was not determined.

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP)—Maxwell Anderson, 70, playwright, remained in serious condition today after suffering a stroke at his home.

Digging for Sewer

Worker Here Dies In Cave-In of Ditch

A 23-year-old construction worker was killed this morning when he was caught in a cave-in of a sewer excavation in the Fair Park Addition.

Killed was Dwaine Ulery of County Road 77 southwest of Green Camp.

According to workmen at the addition, Mr. Ulery was working behind a backhoe laying a sewer lateral at the rear of 501 Fairpark Ave. The backhoe had just started to dig out the trench from the sewer line to the house.

—:—

MR. ULERY jumped into the trench to try to locate the sewer so he could start laying the lateral line. He apparently had just found the line when the sides of the trench fell in on him. The accident occurred at 10:38 a.m.

He was trapped in an almost upright position, with only his legs slightly bent. He was completely buried.

Other workmen immediately called the police and fire departments for help and began the job of digging out the victim. They had just uncovered the top of his head when firemen arrived.

FIREMEN uncovered his head and tried to use their resuscitator, but were unable to force any oxygen into his lungs. One of the firemen tried mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, but it was to no avail.

The trench was about nine-feet deep. Firemen said that Mr. Ulery probably had the breath knocked out of him in the initial impact of the cave-in and was unable to catch it before being buried.

He was covered with heavy mud.

Dr. Louis J. Cherry, who was called to the scene, said death apparently was caused by asphyxiation.

Mr. Ulery was the father of three children. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Ulery of 652 Lee St. and had just recently been discharged from the U.S. Navy.

It took rescue workers a little over half an hour to dig Mr. Ulery's body free from the cave-in. Only two to three men at a time could work in the narrow trench.

Workmen said the hole was not large enough to permit it to be shored up. They said they warned Mr. Ulery not to go into the trench until it was a little larger but he jumped in anyway and began his work.

The victim was employed by National Development Corp., construction firm developing the area.

His body was removed from the scene to the Schaffner-Denzer Funeral Home where funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Truck Driver Is Held Up, but Escapes Death

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—A Wisconsin truck driver told police a hitchhiker robbed him today of his tractor-trailer and tried to shoot him. A pistol that was held against his head misfired, the driver said, and he then won a plea for his life.

The truck was recovered and the gunman captured two miles west of Lorain. On the seat in the cab was a loaded pistol, and Deputy Sheriff Edward Hale said one unexploded cartridge bore a mark from the firing pin.

Melvin Hazaert, 30, of Green Bay, Wis., loaded a rig in Philadelphia Thursday with a cargo of sugar. A man posing as a stranded truck driver persuaded Hazaert to give him a lift back to Cleveland.

When the truck reached the Elyria interchange of the Ohio Turnpike early today, Hazaert said, the hitchhiker suddenly pulled a .32 caliber automatic pistol, held it to the driver's head, and declared he was going to hijack the truck. Hazaert said there was a click when the trigger was pulled, but the gun misfired.

"I started to plead with him and told him I'd go along and help him take the truck," Hazaert said.

At the Norwalk interchange Hazaert leaped from the cab and the hitchhiker drove off.

State highway patrolmen and Lorain County deputies caught up with the truck on U.S. 6 headed back east toward Cleveland. Al-

Little Hope of Early Settlement Held Out In Strike at Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A pressmen's strike has halted publication of this city's three daily newspapers with a total daily circulation of 347,000.

Television and radio stations here immediately stepped up their news programming.

The strike by Columbus Web Pressmen's Local 15 forced the morning Ohio State Journal and then the evening Columbus Dispatch and Columbus Citizen to suspend publication.

It started last night when pressmen, failing to come to terms with publishers on a new contract, threw up picket lines outside the Dispatch-Journal building and the Citizen building.

The Journal, first to feel the strike, missed its Friday morning editions.

John Winnestaffer, president of the striking pressmen's group, said he saw not hope for an immediate strike settlement.

He said the key stumbling block is the issue of premium pay for Saturday night work.

This is the second time in less than a month that Columbus has become a newspaper-less town.

On Jan. 31, the pressmen stayed away from their jobs and the Dispatch and Citizen missed their Sunday editions. The following day, the Journal, which does not publish Sundays, missed all but

He entered the submarine service 25 years ago and switched to destroyers in 1957.

He was made a lieutenant in World War II and saw action in the Pacific as an executive officer on a submarine. For a while he commanded the submarine Kingfish, stationed at Providence, R.I.

He became captain of the destroyer Hale last May. Before that he was executive officer of the Hyman.

Korte attended George Washington University after World War II and around 1950 was a student at the General Line School for officers at Newport.

$2,187 Deficit Reported On Coliseum Operations

The Marion County Agricultural Society today released a 13-month financial statement listing a balance of $906 in its treasury at the end of 1958.

The society also released a report on the debt-prone Veterans Memorial Coliseum which ended the year with a $2,187 deficit. Prepared by William Haley, past secretary of the Fair Board, the reports cover the period from Dec. 1, 1957, through Dec. 31, 1958. The report covers an extra month because the previous report covered only 11 months.

Although Coliseum operations are governed by the agricultural society, the financial reports were separated to give the public a clear picture of the state of the Coliseum, Mr. Haley said. Separate reports are not required by law, he said.

Agricultural society receipts rose substantially during 1958 but the society's end-of-the-year balance was $1,589 lower than for the previous year. Expenditures of $98,644 were offset by receipts of $97,055 and a cash balance of $2,495 from the previous year.

Last year's report listed receipts of $78,836 and expenditures of $76,444.

Coliseum receipts during the 13-month period tallied $12,101 (including a $314 balance from the previous year) and expenditures are listed at $14,288.

Basketball proved to be the biggest source of income for the Coliseum. The report shows $5,860 in revenue from regular games, practices and tournaments.

Emergency Declared

British Jail Nationalist Politicians in Rhodesia

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (AP)—A steady stream of native politicians was rushed into confinement behind barbed wire today as the British rulers of Southern Rhodesia pushed a roundup of African nationalist leaders.

Despite the proclamation of a state of emergency in Southern Rhodesia and the banning of the African National party, both that territory and neighboring Nyasaland and Northern Rhodesia were reported quiet.

Detention Camp Set Up

The detention camp hurriedly set up at Bulawayo, 230 miles southwest of Salisbury, was rapidly filling. The government pressed a hunt for other leaders of Rhodesia's leading African nationalist organization, blamed for riots last week in Nyasaland.

Pamphlets in local dialects were being distributed, telling Africans the meaning of the state of emergency.

At the big Kariba hydroelectric project, where 6,000 African workers went on strike for higher pay Wednesday, 4,500 were reported back at work. The company raised the pay.

Call for Paratroopers

Reports that African nationalists continued to control some outlying airstrips in Nyasaland brought a request for a group of paratroop veterans to recapture the strips. The Africans had blocked the strips.

The previous disturbances and the threat of more trouble brought a 12-fold increase in riot insurance on homes in Nyasaland.

In Salisbury, life went on much

New Lines Installed

Dial Telephone Service Is Scheduled for Forest

FOREST — The first major step in a detailed program to convert the community of Forest from manual to dial telephone operation has been completed by the General Telephone Co. of Ohio, it was announced today by Howard E. Conley of Marion, division commercial superintendent.

"The telephone distribution facilities throughout Forest have been almost entirely replaced with new cable and in the expanding areas of the community, additional cable was constructed to accommodate new customers," he said.

THESE CABLE replacements and extensions comprise the bulk of the outside plant work scheduled. "Cables and lines that were not replaced in this project have been constructed within the last few years and are relatively new," said Mr. Conley. "When the exchange is cut over to dial, Forest will have essentially 100 per cent new telephone facilities."

Total gross expenditures for this project amount to more than $35,000 and the entire modern automatic dial system which is scheduled to be cut into full service in August of this year will represent expenditures totaling more than $134,000, he said.

With the completion of this first step in the conversion program, the company can now provide all classes and grades of service in the Forest exchange area, and after the completion of the new dial office, there will be a substantial increase in capacity to permit hundreds of additional telephones to be connected, he said. Facilities will be available to provide customers with private lines throughout the community.

The second step in the conversion program enlists the dual efforts of the building forces and installation crews. Complex automatic dial switching equipment, manufactured by the Leich Electric Co. of Chicago, is slated to be installed beginning in March, following the completion of a new telephone building which is presently under construction.

ANOTHER important project scheduled to be started in early April, is the installation of dial telephones in the homes and businesses of all Forest customers. These will replace the magneto telephones which will be removed immediately after the actual conversion. The change-out will involve approximately 730 telephones at a capital expenditure of more than $25,000.

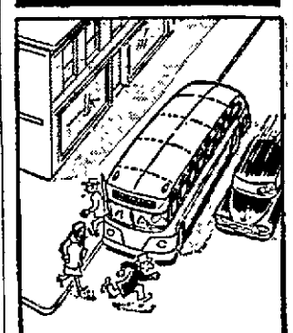
At the time the telephone installer-repairmen are making the initial transition from manual to dial telephones, extension telephones located anywhere in the home can be installed free of charge..

Prior to the conversion, telephone company personnel will contact all business telephone users to offer the latest type of business equipment such as the electronic secretary telephone answering unit, extension telephones, key telephones equipped with inter-communications and hold features, speaker phones, and other modern services.

Mr. Conley pointed out that when the new system is placed into service in August, all telephone numbers in the Forest exchange area will be changed to two letters and five digits. He cautioned all business customers in Forest to consider the telephone number change before printing new stationery or planning future advertising in which their telephone number is used .

The line size, amount, and distribution of the cable facilities throughout the community was the result of a comprehensive market survey of the Forest exchange area. The study was primarily concerned with the economic and marketing conditions of the community, population growth, and the telephone needs of the community, today as well as its potential and projected growth in the future.

SAFE DRIVING TIP



Watch for pedestrians when passing buses stopped at the curb.

Disembarking passengers, hurrying to make connections, often disregard street traffic.

The Chicago Motor Club reminds drivers that the blind spot in front of a bus or other vehicle is a favorite crossing point for careless pedestrians. They might step into the flow of traffic without thinking, so a motorist should be on the lookout for them.

Three Weeklies Sold

CLEVELAND (AP)—Publishers Russell W. Frey and George W. Alexander of Rittman, Ohio, announced Thursday the sale of three weekly newspapers, the Rittman Press, the Bedford Times-Register and the Maple Heights Press. The price was not mentioned.

The new owners are Amos Battenfield, manager of the Averill Press of Birmingham, Mich. and Lin Williams of Ann Arbor, commercial manager of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

Military duty in Alaska, before it became the 49th state, was considered "foreign service" by the Department of Defense.

Dairy Boycott Could Spread

CLEVELAND (AP)—The boycott of a Mansfield dairy that refused to agree to a February price pattern for milk threatened Thursday to spread to Toledo in protest of shipment of Toledo milk to the beleaguered dairy.

For the last eight days, Mansfield area farmers have been diverting milk from the Page Dairy Co. there. The dairy was the only holdout against a price premium set in the Cleveland market when dairies agreed to ignore a 45-cent drop in the fluid milk price for February and March.

First break in the Mansfield deadlock was announced Thursday night by Glen Wagner, counsel for the producers and manager of the Northwest Co-Operative Dairy Sales Assn. of Toledo. He said a meeting with Page has been set up for Saturday.

Wagner is appearing as counsel for the Cleveland and Stark County Co-ops at the Federal milk marketing order hearing here.

Roy Benson, Wagner's assistant, said some producers shipping to Page plants in Toledo had arranged a meeting to consider cutting of milk supplies. He said the farmers were angered by the diversion of Toledo milk to the Mansfield Plant.

Eight per cent of Page's milk supply at Mansfield is being diverted by about 165 organized producers and some independents, according to Dale M. Dohner, manager of the North Central Ohio Co-Operative Dairy Sales Assn. in Mansfield.

Steel Plant Struck

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Some 220 were idle at the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co.'s Brier Hill works. Company officials termed Thursday's walkout a wildcat strike. Dan Thomas, president of the United Steelworkers Brier Hill local, said the men do not get time off to eat and are demanding a lunch hour.

Won't Build Street

Isaly Changes His Plan For Developing 16 Acres

Faced with opposition from two fronts, William R. Isaly has decided to change his plans for developing a 16-acre subdivision in Vernon Heights.

The area is located north of Vernon Heights Blvd. between the Marion Cemetery and Summit St. and stretches from the boulevard north through the "Indian Mounds" area to Mandana Ave.

Mr. Isaly had hoped to cut a north - south street through the boulevard to Brightwood Dr. But his plan for this extension of Brightwood was blocked when the city refused to grant him an easement through a strip of city park land which runs along the boulevard from the cemetery eastward.

HE ALSO HAD sought to abandon an earlier plan to run Leetonia Ave. north from the boulevard to Forest St. This street has been platted on the section but only one portion actually has been laid. Mr. Isaly petitioned the county commissioners to vacate two unimproved portions of the street, but they refused to do so.

The commissioners dismissed the petition on grounds that the street should not be vacated, even though undeveloped, until another access to the area is provided.

That was the clincher because the city had already turned down the request for an easement on the boulevard for extending Brightwood Dr.

Mr. Isaly said he will not develop Leetonia Ave. at present, but will begin selling lots in that area. When the demand for another north - south street becomes great enough, Leetonia will be cut through, he said.

THE ISALY family owns a 60-foot-wide right of way from its development through city school board property to the corner of Mandana and Brightwood Dr.

Mr. Isaly had hoped to start the extension running south from Brightwood over this right of way, and then swing to the east. He had offered to swap some of this 60-foot strip to the board of education for an equal strip to the eastward.

He pointed out that while there would have been some technical difficulties to overcome, the Brightwood extension could have been shifted to the east approximately 145 feet.

This would mean that automobile traffic would be forced to travel at lower speeds to negotiate the curved street, he said. It also would mean that the board of education property could have been made contiguous instead of being bisected.

However, Supt. Robert S. Brown said that in the event an elementary school building is ever built in that area, it could be constructed on the school property as it exists.

"If possible, of course, we would like to keep our tract of land in one piece and not have it split by a street," he added.

The city objected to granting the easement through its park property on grounds that splitting the land would substantially reduce its value. City Council Monday night ordered in legislation authorizing the land to be sold at public auction.

Mr. Isaly said he definitely will not submit a bid for the land.

And, since he will not have access to Vernon Heights Blvd. from Brightwood, Mr. Isaly said he will not dedicate to the school the 60-foot strip of land which currently bisects the school board property.

TO MR. ISALY, extension of Brightwood appeared to be the logical step in providing a through north-south street in the development.

When Leetonia is extended it will join Forest St., which is only 25 feet wide on a 44-foot right of way.

Brightwood could have been up to 44 feet wide over a 60 foot right of way, allowing two-lane traffic with parking on both sides of the street.

Summit St., the only other north-south access, is 25 feet wide on a 50-foot right of way.

The street situation facing anyone desiring to reach the southern Vernon Heights area points up the need for another north-south street.

Only three route choices are available at present — Delaware Ave., Summit St. or the eastern leg of Vernon Heights Blvd. Since the Marion Cemetery prohibits any cross-over west of Brightwood, the Leetonia-Forest St. link or the Brightwood extension are left as the only alternatives.

Mr. Isaly also pointed out that the 40 by 145-foot strip which connects Forest St. to Brightwood at Mandana owned by the Isalys, could fulfill a definite need for handling southeast school traffic.

OWU Tuition Goes to $1,020

$100 Increase Given Approval of Trustees

DELAWARE — The board of trustees of Ohio Wesleyan University has approved a $100 increase in tuition for the academic year 1959-60, it has been announced by George W. Burns, acting president of the University.

This increase will raise tuition from $920 to $1,020 a year. In a letter explaining the increase to parents, Dr. Burns pointed out that this is less than the $1,120 tuition anticipated for 1959-60 in a statement on tuition mailed to parents in February 1958.

In his letter, Dr. Burns also urged parents to keep in mind "our overall student aid program of jobs, loans and direct scholarship assistance which is of direct help to more than 35 per cent of our student body this year."

"We all deplore general inflation, of which this action is an inevitable outgrowth," he wrote to the parents, "But education, whether at Ohio Wesleyan or at any other institution of learning, remains the outstanding bargain of a lifetime, amortized, as it is, over half a century or more."

Service Stations Drive For Closing on Sunday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Columbus independent service station operators laid plans today for an all-out campaign to close all service stations which violate Ohio's Sunday blue law.

Joining together under the banner of the Independent Service Station Dealers Assn., 113 operators met to discuss Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner's crackdown against Sunday sales.

The majority voted in favor of abiding by a state law which requires businesses to close one day a week in observance of the Sabbath. The law, however, does not apply to those engaged in work of charity or necessity.

As a result of the vote, members of the group volunteered to serve on committees which will visit all Columbus service stations remaining open next Sunday.

Vernon J. Kertzinger, executive secretary, said affidavits against the offending stations will be filed in Municipal Court Monday.

Public Meeting Slated

NEVADA—A public meeting will be held by the Nevada Board of Education next Tuesday, March 3, at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. A discussion on consolidation will be held. The board hopes to learn the views of the public on the matter. Nevada has been conferring with several other districts in recent months trying to work out an acceptable consolidation plan for the district.

2 Starving Cleveland Children Hospitalized

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two children suffering from severe malnutrition and dehydration were reported in poor condition today at St Vincent Charity Hospital.

"We have been desperate for money, but the kids have been eating regularly," Mrs. William Schram, the childrens' mother, told County Child Welfare Division representatives.

Admitted to the hospital Thursday were Lynette Schram, 3, and 28 - months - old Terry. Doctors examined and then released two other Schram children, Bruce, 5, and Kim, 9 months.

Mrs. Schram said her husband had been out of work for a month, but found a job two days ago.

She said she was unaware that Lynette and Terry were sick.

"They ate Wednesday night," she explained.

The condition of the children became known when a friend of the Schrams, who had agreed to take care of Terry, became concerned over the child's thin appearance.

Labor Reform Would Need Miracle

Labor reform is an academic issue for most of the people of the United States. They have no direct interest in Unionism and no direct stake.

But by the same token, business reform at the turn of the century was an academic issue for most Americans, too. They looked upon trust-busting and the war against monopoly as a remote struggle between the titans of business and politicians who had found a vote-producing talking point.

But trust-busting and the war against monopoly were given tremendous impetus by a political factor—the effrontery of the interests that would be affected in acting as if they somehow were beyond the law and untouchable. They created a political animosity they could not control.

To this day, there is political dynamite in the claim that business interests are trying to dominate the government. On innumerable occasions, clever politicians have been able to rally votes against otherwise worthy causes by making it appear that business interests were trying to put over something on a presumably innocent electorate.

Yet it seems not to have occurred to any substantial number of voters that a power even greater than that of business now is in a position to dictate to Congress on national legislation.

The prospect of any worthwhile proposal for labor reform is clouded in this session of Congress by the edict of AFL-CIO that only its approved proposal—the Kennedy-Ervin bill—shall be considered. It has given orders to its presumably captive representatives and senators that they must not pay any attention to the Eisenhower administration's bill or to the proposals by Sen. McClellan, whose investigation of corrupt practices in unions have supplied the motive for labor reform.

It may well be that the outcome of this irreconcilable attitude will be no labor reform at all, or what would be almost as bad—a weak and ineffectual law that would have no effect on serious corruption yet would lull the public into a false sense of security.

Labor reform worth the name would need a miracle to win congressional approval when unions have the power to veto over any proposal that they have not found suitable to their needs.

A minority again has worked its way into a position to dictate to the government of the United States. What remains to be seen is how long it will take before it generates enough opposition to curb its power.

When the business monopolists were asking to get their wings clipped, they finally got what they were asking for during Theodore Roosevelt's presidency; they had been working up to it since the end of the Civil War.

It may take union labor a few more years to learn that no one dictates to a republic any longer than is required for an opposition to take shape and assert itself.

No Traffic Survey

The proposal by a Columbus firm for a parking survey in Marion is interesting and should be investigated.

We have a serious parking problem here that is growing worse steadily, and no one seems to know exactly what to do about it.

So a study by someone who specializes in the business might be very much in order, particularly if it is done at no cost and there are no strings.

We do not need another traffic survey, however, and any parking studies should be integrated with the existing arterial highway report.

It is almost exactly three years since the Browne and Roberts preliminary report was submitted to the city, and it has taken all the intervening time just to reach the place where the first phase of it now is being considered by the state highway department.

If construction begins on the north-south one-way street program sometime this year, it will be a near-miracle in view of all the obstacles that have been placed in its way.

Let's not introduce a new element of confusion by even suggesting that another survey be undertaken.

Rockefeller and Day of Reckoning

Gov. Rockefeller's jut-jawed policy that New York should pay for what it wants with no more deficit financing, is closer to the policy being hammered out by President Eisenhower than had appeared at first.

There are two ways to balance a budget.

1. To make spending match income;
2. To make income match spending.

President Eisenhower is arguing in Washington that spending should not be greater than income.

Gov. Rockefeller is arguing in Albany that income should be equal to spending.

The difference in their approach is that New York already is committed to a spending program and cannot get out from under it. As the New York Times summed up the problem:

"New York State has been running downhill to insolvency through increased spending unaccompanied by increased taxation for four years at least. The Legislature committed itself to vast increases in state aid to education in formulas that would become more costly each ensuing year. It did not enact new taxes; instead, whenever a good political occasion offered and with the blessing of Gov. Harriman, it gave the taxpayers a 'dividend' of income tax 'forgiveness.'"

Gov. Rockefeller is calling for a day of reckoning—a return to financial integrity. Even Gov. Williams in Michigan—the Fair Deal's beloved "Soapy"—is having a day of reckoning. Michigan is so broke it cannot meet ordinary payroll expenses. Payless pay days are imminent.

In Washington, it's easier to write more debt on the cuff and leave it for pensioners and tomorrow's children to worry about. But the issue is the same wherever it comes to a climax: How long can a government run into debt without undermining the confidence that underlies its credit?

Yale's Griswold Didn't Say It

Our friends the headline writers made it appear for a brief time that Yale University's president, Alfred Whitney Griswold, finally had broken the silence barrier on the athletic scholarship swindle.

But instead of referring to the scholarships themselves as a swindle in a speech at The Johns Hopkins University, President Griswold, it turned out, referred to them as a swindle on the kind of education every college student should receive. He was complaining that athletes who went to college on athletic scholarships were not getting the kind of education they deserved.

What really needs to be said on this subject is that the athletes are not getting the kind of money they deserve for their important role in the entertainment business, which is what big-time football is.

None of them, it is safe to assume, makes in cash, value in lieu of cash, or in both more than a fifth of what his services are demonstrably worth at the boxoffice. Granted that many pigskin entertainers who work for peanuts as amateurs are doing so for a chance to catch the eye of scouts for professional teams, there still is no reason a laborer on the gridiron should not be worthy of his hire.

At the very least, he should be entitled to a chance to come back to the campus to become a full-fledged student in case he cannot make the grade with the professionals when he has been judged ready for the big time. At the very most, he should be entitled to a couple hundred dollars a game, in recognition of the quarter of a million that Alma Mater may be raking in at the boxoffice.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Moscow radio suggested that Uncle Sam and Russia co-operate in joint outer-space flights, putting fleets of spaceships up in mutual experiments. But if Soviet and U.S. can't get along on the earth, what chance is there in the air?

The general fear here is that Yankee Doodle and the Russian Bear joint moon shots would lead to a free-for-all in the wide blue yonder. It could put mutual distrust in orbit around the moon, sun and planets.

PROBABLE PLAY-BY-PLAY report of discussions:

1. The meeting between the two governments to discuss co-operative space flights opens with a countdown on temperamental explosions. All delegates go up into the air without spaceships. The session is so warlike that excoriations reach the moon.

2. Six months have elapsed with a deadlock over the simple questions: "Whose idea was this anyhow?" and "Must we speak in friendly terms to each other during these discusssions?"

3. Meeting becomes riotous over rumor Russia has sent a dozen spaceships up during the talks. Russia denies this and charges the U.S. has filled the skies with ships bearing Wall Street spies.

4. The Free World charges Khrushchev has landed on the moon by flying-saucer after promising the delegates he would not leave town. Mikoyan is reported on a world good will tour in the first atomic box-kite.

6. Eighteen months have now passed. The meeting on friendly, co-operative moon flights breaks up in fist fights. War seems near.

Frank Costello just lost by court decision his citizenship which he got in 1925. He can hardly cry, "Why are they rushing me out of the country?" There must be times when Costello wishes somebody would deport some of his lawyers.

Connecticut proposes boosting from $100 to $750 the license for inedible egg dealers. It may be just guarding against trouble with orators in coming political campaigns.

Yale has bought a big bakery plant for $200,000. It can now truthfully say to returning grads, "If I had known you were coming I would have baked a cake."

THE FCC RULING that a station showing a mayor running for re-election, speaking for the March of Dimes or welcoming a city guest on TV, must give equal time to his opponents was silly. Imagine a Democratic candidate getting equal time on the air because Ike threw out the first baseball on TV.

Mergers and take-overs in industry are pretty incredible. An auto parts corporation, a lace-making firm, a movie company, a radio chain and a soap powder concern figure in consolidation now being probed. A routine office question each morning must have been, "Well, boys, how are we doing where and in what?"

Dangerous Game

Proxmire on Bossism

By David Lawrence

Lawrence

Sen. Proxmire, (D-Wis), should be hailed as a hero. He has courageously put his finger on the reason why congressional government has been deteriorating. Instead, he is being treated by some of his colleagues in the Senate with a mixture of disdain and cynicism. Others secretly agree but do not concur openly with his defiance of the present system, which permits a role of bossism and dictatorship by an elected leader of the party.

What the Wisconsin senator has opened up to criticism at last, after many years of indifference by the public, is a situation in the Senate where "leadership" has been interpreted to mean one-man control over what legislation shall reach the floor.

While Mr. Proxmire calls for the resumption of the party "caucus" or conference, he does not say that an individual senator must forsake his conscience in voting the party line.

HE DOES SAY that there should be frequent party conferences in which senators may express themselves and endeavor to influence their colleagues.

"There has never been a time," said Sen. Proxmire in his speech to the Senate this week, "when power has been as sharply concentrated as it is today in the Senate. In January 1958 senators assembled and listened to the majority leader read a speech which he had previously released to the press in full. There was not a single matter of party business discussed. There wasn't even a mention of party program, not a whisper concerning any legislation. There was no provision on the agenda for such discussion.

"The next meeting of the Senate Democratic caucus was a full year later. It took place just last month. Again the meeting was convened by the majority leader, who delivered another speech on the state of the nation. This speech, too, had been released beforehand to the press. The only business of the entire caucus had taken less than two and a half minutes. And senators had to surrender for another year their right and duty to determine the Democratic party's policies and program."

SEN. PROXMIRE pointed out also that the majority leader exercises his greatest power in determining what legislation shall be considered. Mr. Proxmire said:

"It is my objective to obtain for the individual senator the opportunity to have an effective voice in the making of extremely important, vital decisions that occur before legislation can reach the floor of the Senate for action, and to have a voice also in determining what legislation shall reach the floor for a vote."

The Wisconsin senator mentioned also that Majority Leader Johnson of Texas has been, "more extravagantly and widely praised by his colleauges and the press throughout this country than any other leader who has graced this body."

Mr. Proxmire said that, in a later speech, he is going to "discuss the full implications of this leadership and the power it has generated" and that what he really is calling for is "a greater degree of democracy in our party in the Senate."

There was a time in American history when the "caucus" was of prime importance in determining party policy.

In the Reconstruction Period, the Republicans did all their arguing in secret caucus and, when a vote was taken, the minority were bound to support by their votes in the Senate itself, the action recorded in the caucus. Some of the most vital portions of the debate on the 14th Amendment, for instance, were lost to history because of the secrecy of those caucus meetings.

MR. PROXMIRE is not arguing for a caucus of that kind. He is urging that senators meet together, discuss the party program together and then decide individually whether they will later support in the Senate the proposed legislation as conforming or not conforming to the party platform.

Much of the difficulty which has arisen in the last four years is due to divided government—the Democrats in control of both houses of Congress and the Republicans in charge of the executive branch.

If there were in the White House a president of the same party that controls Congress, the majority leader would have to bow to the wishes of the president.

Again and again the frustrations of present-day government are being pointed up. There is no fixed responsibility upon either political party today such as the peoples of the British Commonwealths enjoy in their parliamentary system. This has gone to such an extreme that a Democratic senator has found it necessary to take the risks of possible reprisals in committee assignments in the future as he lays bare what appears to be a dictatorial way of conducting the legislative affairs of the majority party today.

In Defense of Fat Men

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

"Nobody loves a fat man."

So says an American proverb. But Santa Claus still is mighty popular.

HAL BOYLE

The truth is not that nobody loves a fat man. The truth is that most people secretly envy the fat man.

To most of the world the fat man is still the symbol of wealth, plenty and security. In this country he has become a symbol of nonconformity and independence — a man with the courage to be different.

As a doctor observed recently, the campaign against fat in America is assuming the proportions of "a national neurosis." Show me a man who jeers at an overweight person and I'll show you a man who is discontented because being thin hasn't made him rich, famous or happy.

IT JUST GOES to show that a man whose only ambition is to become thin as a rail is likely to end up wooden-headed, too.

There are certain advantages in this civilization in having a well-rounded stomach, known in some admiring circles as "a corporation."

First and foremost, girls in the office may laugh at your paunch, but—bless the little dears!—they do love to reach out and pat it.

Anything else you buy on the installment plan—a house, a car, a refrigerator—can be taken from you if you don't meet the payments regularly. But there is no mortgage on a big tummy. It is yours alone—all yours—to have and to hold. You can take it with you, even unto the grave.

Skinny men who nap in their office swivel chairs wake up weary from having their arms dangle down like an ape's. But the fat man finds his stomach is a comfortable arm rest.

A FAT MAN can't be crowded. If somebody sits next to him in a bus seat, he merely takes a deep breath—and the other fellow falls off on the floor.

This world is full of people who stick their face into your face and try to peddle you something. The fat man is not at their mercy. He merely leans back, thrusts out his belly bumper—and pushes the fast talker out of hearing.

Bankers will lend more money on less collateral to a man with a tire around his waist. He looks like a bank vault to them—big and safe.

The fat man is more romantic—this may surprise the ladies!—and is the most attentive of lovers. As the old Scottish saying goes, "When the belly is full the mind is amongst the maids."

The National Debt

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Many a man has looked at the national debt—big as a mountain in dollar bills—and asked himself: "How can we cut it down to pebble size?"

The latest to look and be appalled is Rep. James C. Wright Jr., 36, a Texas Democrat. He has an idea which might take 100 years to work out. But he thinks it's better than just sitting and looking.

Although Wright stuck a needle in the national conscience, and one House member after another arose to applaud him, nothing is likely to come of the idea except that it may be enshrined in a place set aside for noble thoughts.

THE NATIONAL debt now is 285 billion dollars. This year the government will have to pay $8,100,000,000 in interest on it, without knocking of a dime on the principal.

Wright, like others, hates to think of that going on indefinitely. He told the House that with interest rates going up, the government soon will probably be paying $9,800,000,000 a year in interest, if we just assume the total debt remains unchanged and does not get even higher than it is now.

So Wright said: "This means that if things go along exactly as they have been going, without any more increases in the national debt and without still another jump in the interest rates, in 29 years we shall have paid the total amount of the debt and still owe every penny of it."

WRIGHT SUGGESTS Congress tell the Treasury Department to set aside each year one per cent of the present national debt of 285 billion — or $2,850,000,000 a year — to pay off the principal.

This, Wright figures, would be cutting down not only on the size of the debt each year but on the interest, too.

Using a 283 billion dollar debt figure, which is now the permanent debt ceiling — the temporary ceiling until July 1 is higher than that — Wright told the House: "In 100 years we could completely retire the debt by paying 495 billion in interest and 283 billion in principal, or a total of 778 billion.

"But if we pay nothing on the debt itself, the interest alone for 100 years will be 980 billion, and we will still owe the debt of 283 billion, or a total of 1.263 trillion."

THE ONLY trouble with the idea — if it was going to work on schedule — is that for 100 years the government would have to balance its budget and not go further into debt.

But it hasn't been doing that. The budget, or cost of running the government, has been going up. While this year President Eisenhower is making a try at budget-balancing, the chances are he won't make it.

His budget this year called for spending 77 billion and he estimated the government would take in through taxes and other revenue $77,100,000,000, or $100,000,000 more coming in than going out. But even those estimates included higher postal rates and gasoline taxes, and some other changes Congress isn't likely to make.

For Wright's idea to work — that is, for the government to spend every year around $2,850,000,000 on paying off on the debt — the government would have to be taking in more than it spent.

How could it do that? In only one of two ways: either by reducing spending or getting more income or revenue, which would mean raising taxes. But government spending seems pretty sure to be going up, not down. And new taxes aren't popular.

Temporary Duty

By Truman Twill

It had been years since I had done any grocery shopping on my own responsibility—so many years that the supermarket I shopped in then would have been lost in one corner of the sprawling establishment I am getting the hang of now.

I hasten to say that I approve of the supermarket way of selling groceries. I think it is good for business, and I think it is good for the customer. But there are a few things I would like to see experimented with, in case I have to keep on buying groceries.

For a dime, the supermarket could rent me a velocipede cart to take the weight off my feet and make me feel like a sport, instead of a broken-down husband being imposed on to do the family grocery shopping. For a quarter, it could rent me a battery-driven job with a ram in front to prod fat old ladies when they go into huddles in the aisle.

For no extra charge, the supermarket could give me a design of the layout, with a few hundred items listed on the reverse side, coded for location. I once spent 10 minutes looking for dried prunes, because they were in an out-of-the way place, instead of where I thought they should be next to the proprietary medicines.

Supermarkets with shelving that runs all the way to the floor should be restudied by regional supervisors and their wives. To make the study authentic, this happily wedded pair should be of advanced middle age, with bifocals and a bursitis to groan over between them. There then would be no more shelving at floor level; everything would start within stooping distance.

Everybody these days goes for hostesses, and I am for them as a worthwhile addition to the supermarket layout. A hostess could do double duty as a stock girl, a checkout prodigy, or a sample pusher, for all I care. But when I arrived, more dead than alive, I would like to have someone on hand to give me the best wishes of the establishment and make my money feel noticed. Impersonality is the only thing about supermarketing that seems to me to be inferior to the way it used to be in Hubbell's Grocery Store & Meat Market back home.

Mr. Hubbell and his brother were always glad to see a customer. They jollied him along and made him feel welcome. The idea was to get him into a mellow mood, and it is possible a hostess might have the same effect in the same direction in the now-all-too-impersonal atmosphere of a supermarket.

But on the other hand, I may not be interested in supermarket problems much longer. I get into this sort of thing only during family emergencies when it is necessary to send a boy to mill, as the saying goes.

The other time it happened, years ago, I was taken off the assignment the week after I came home with a glass jar of transparent pickled lambs' tongues. There were dozens of them in there, and it was such a moving exhibit that the jar was promptly hidden. The next week when marketing time came, several people who had been too sick to go to the store suddenly got better. It may work out that way again. I may be pulled off the job without notice. I have discovered some most unusual pickled items in the meat department.

News of Other Years

40 YEARS AGO — That a state police system in Ohio would result in Bolshevism was the interpretation placed upon the statements made by labor leaders who addressed the Ohio Senate military affairs committee in opposition to the bill introduced by Sen. Davis of Youngstown providing for a state constabulary. Opponents of the measure claimed a state constabulary would "crush men striking for a living wage," would become a financial burden on taxpayers and that state troopers were nothing more or less than Cossacks.

New military terms to be presented to the Germans at Treves were turned over to French Premier Clemenceau for his approval. This was the Premier's first day at work since he had been shot by a would-be assassin.

20 YEARS AGO — Walter T. Prendergast of Marion, second secretary of the legation and consul at La Pas, Bolivia, announced his intention to resign. He had served since he was appointed during the presidency of Harding.

Prime Minister Chamberlain announced in the House of Commons the British government's decision to recognize the nationalist regime of Generalissimo Franco as the legal Spanish government.

10 YEARS AGO — Six students were reported missing and two dead in a fire which destroyed Kenyon Hall, a men's dormitory at Kenyon College in Gambier. Nothing but debris remained of the dormitory which had housed 120 men. Numerous students sustained injuries after jumping from their windows. Flaming hallways prevented them from going to fire escapes.

The Hoover commission called the new unified national military establishment "perilously close to the weakest type of department" in the government. Hoover commented that "interservice rivalries indicated a lack of understanding of the fact that military security depends upon cooperation and balance among the Army, Navy and Air Force."

Max Birnbaum Talks at Local Altrusa Dinner

Miniature flags of member states of the United Nations provided an international setting for the dinner meeting of the Marion Altrusa Club Tuesday evening at Hotel Harding.

Guest speaker was Max Birnbaum, who related to club members and guests his experiences during a recent three week visit to his native Poland.

After an absence of 30 years, Mr. Birnbaum said he found many changes, occasioned by the country's subjugation by enemy forces. He painted a bleak picture of a people continually harassed by government regulations.

Housewives, he said, get up early in the morning to buy even the poorest quality of food for their family's daily needs. The small businessman, he explained, is taxed exorbitantly on his estimated sales and for large items, such as bicycles or machinery, a permit to purchase is required. He added that farmers are permitted to work 25 acres; any more would be "capitalistic."

Because Poland has no credit and prints its own currency, there is an inflated monetary exchange and the black market flourishes, with American dollars being held in high regard, the speaker told his audience. The newspapers are filled with propaganda lies against the United States and the Communists boast of their eventual conquest of our nation, he said.

Mr. Birnbaum pointed out that Poland today is a country where mutual distrust has crept in, destroying even family life, where neighbor suspects neighbor, and the struggle for mere existence has brought about a mental and moral apathy. The people, he added, can only hope for a miracle.

Group singing during the evening was led by Miss Helen May, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Grace Cooper.

In charge of arrangements for the meeting were members of the international relations committee with Mrs. E. O. Smith as chairman, assisted by Miss Ferol Burley, Mrs. C. L. Ross and Miss Pauline Ruhl.

Guests were Miss Kay Barzacchini, Miss Nancy Bodell, Miss Barbara Buckingham, Mrs. William B. Burley, Miss Janet Geddis, Mrs. John B. Kerr, Mrs. Russell D. Luke, Miss Kathryn Smith, Ralph E. Mills, Ernest O. Smith, Stanley Seer, Johnn Vestal and Robert P. Wagner.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: I'm 16 and my husband is 19. We were married in November and expect a baby in April.

I love my husband and I don't want anything to happen to our marriage. Besides, with a baby on the way, I need him. We had a big argument about his not helping me with the wallpaper and painting in the apartment.

In my condition I shouldn't be on ladders and scaffolds but the place was so shabby I couldn't stand it any more, so I decided to fix it up. He promised to help but he hasn't kept his word. He went out with his pals four times this week.

I told him I was going back to my folks and he said, "Go ahead." I really didn't mean it but now I can't get him to talk to me because I threatened to leave him. Please help me. I'd rather die than have my folks know the shape our marriage is in.—KATHY.

Dear Kathy: Same song, second verse. Neither of you kids was ready for marriage, but apparently this wasn't a decision reached after careful deliberation.

You ARE married, and about to become parents, which means you'd both better grow up in a hurry and measure up to the enormous responsibilities ahead.

Go to the clergyman who joined you together. Discuss your problems with him. It's going to take plenty of patience and determination to make your marriage work. Since the boy-groom already is flying the coop four nights a week, YOU will have to be the grown-up one.

Good luck. You'll need plenty of it.

Too Many Cooks

Dear Ann Landers: I am considered a very good cook and enjoy experimenting with new recipes. A friend (?) who thinks she is the best cook in the whole world, served a rather nice souffle at a luncheon recently and I asked for the recipe. She gave it to me—reluctantly.

I followed the instructions carefully and it was the biggest mess I ever saw. This annoyed me because the recipe called for expensive ingredients and I had to throw everything out. There's no question but that she left out a few important ingredients or instructions, just to be mean.

I called her the next morning and she blamed my stove. When I asked her to repeat the recipe she said, "This is an insult!" and slammed down the receiver.

Was I wrong to call her? Did I insult the woman? What do you think?—OUT 13 EGGS AND A HALF POUND OF BUTTER.

-:-

Dear Out: Souffles are delicate and capricious things. It very well could have been your stove. I don't feel that you insulted her, however. Let the matter drop. And in the future get your recipes from the food section of your newspaper.

Weekend Romeo?

Dear Ann Landers: I am a high school senior, 18, and am very fond of a college sophomore age 20. He comes home almost every other weekend and I just live for these dates.

Since we've resided in this city only a year, my folks are not very well acquainted with this fellow so I invited him to dinner so they could get to know him better.

My two younger brothers, 10 and 12, are horrible monsters and I asked them in advance to please be gentlemen.

They came to the table with dirty fingernails, slurped the soup and mopped up the gravy. My folks said nothing and I was humiliated to death. My boy friend hasn't called this week. Could this be the reason?—ESTELLE.

Dear Estelle: If THIS is the reason, the boy friend is for the birds. The "monsters" were just showing off. Ignoring them was the proper thing to do. (Where's your sense of humor, Toots?)

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Marion Star, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Devotions were given by Raymond Donaugh. Music was provided by the fourth grades led by Mrs. Helen Cox, Mrs. Ruth Martin and Miss Anita Hayden, accompanied by Miss Hazel Hinamon.

Mrs. Gail Holt was introduced as the new social co-chairman. A nominating committee was named as follows: Mrs. Elwood Rhoden, chairman, Mrs. Sol Bridenstine, Mrs. Harrison Eaches, Mrs. Carl Tennant and Mrs. Paul Mitten.

A profit of $93.64 was reported on the cookie sale. Prize winners were Keith Bailey, first; Kirk Tennant, second and Ronnie Sewald, third.

Mrs. Kermit Smith was in charge of the Founder's Day activities. A history of the PTA was given and the Cub Scouts of Den 6, Pack 39, presented a skit noting different countries where PTA exists as well as the United States. Mrs. Eaches is the denmother.

Mrs. Smith presented flowers to all past presidents at the meeting, Mrs. C. A. Thomas, Mrs. Edwin Obenour, Mrs. Richard Creviston, Mrs. Charles Brown, Mrs. Hugh Malo, Raymond Donough, Everett Smith and George Leonard.

The attendance prize was given to Mrs. Helen Cox's fourth grade. The next meeting will be held March 17.

Guest speaker for the regular meeting of the N. Main St. School PTA Tuesday night was Mrs. Lois Ansley, city school nurse. She outlined the duties of the school nurse.

Mrs. Donald Hunter, president of the City PTA Council, also spoke and discussed the meaning of the PTA in the past compared with today. Theme of the meeting was "Let's Take a Look Into the Past and Future of the PTA" and it also was a founder's day program.

Past presidents of the organization were honored. Mrs. Evolna Glasener, a past president, was present. Others honored were: Mrs. Harold Robinson, Mrs. W. A. England, Mrs. John Makeever, Mrs. T. L. Pierce, Mrs. Ralph Kemp, Mrs. Raymond Seas and Walter Osmun.

The group moved to sponsor a girl scout troop at the school for the coming year.

Entertainment was provided by the Mothersingers who presented a selection of vocal numbers. The devotions were led by Miss Virginia O'Dowd and the pledge of allegiance was spoken by the group. The social hour following the business portion of the meeting was conducted by Mrs. William Smith and Mrs. George McElroy.

Nuclear Group Given Contract for Research

John A. McCone, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, announced Thursday that the commission has signed a contract with the East Central Nuclear Group, Inc., and the Florida West Coast Nuclear Group, Inc., for research and development work on a gas-cooled, nuclear power plant of advanced design. The plant will be constructed in the Florida West Coast area under the commission's power demonstration reactor program.

Walter H. Sammis, president of Ohio Edison Co., is president of East Central Nuclear Group, Inc. Ohio Edison is a member of the group.

Under the contract the East Central Nuclear will conduct the research program to develop a heavy water-moderated gas-cooled pressure tube reactor of advanced design. The cost of this research program, presently estimated to be about $18,000,000, will be shared approximately equally by East Central Nuclear and the Atomic Energy Commission.

To Your Good Health

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

At Last—Hospital Meals Are Praised

"Dear Dr. Molner: While in the hospital with gall bladder trouble I was served special meals that were very delicious; yet I never had any bad effects. Now that I am home, I would like to prepare them myself, if you would be so kind as to let me know where to buy a book with recipes for gall bladder sufferers. — L. C."

Dr. Molner

So far as I know, there's no such book of recipes.

However, three cheers for you for giving a word of praise for hospital cooking. People go to the hospital because they are sick and their appetites aren't very good as a result.

They aren't getting any exercise, and they don't get a shrimp cocktail or two martinis or marinated herring for an appetizer, and then they join in the popular anvil chorus that "hospital meals aren't good."

This is one of those attitudes, or habits, like saying that "we don't have winters like we used to have." There isn't any basis in fact, but it's popular to say so.

THERE'S A great deal of thought put into hospital food by some highly-trained and intelligent dietitians who wince every time they hear that stale old bromide perpetuated.

So for their sake I welcome at least one reader who gives credit where credit is due.

As to your recipes: Why don't you write to the chief dietitian at the hospital where you were? You might even enclose a clipping of this column. The dietitian would probably be so overwhelmed at having an honest opinion like yours, that she's give you a tip or two on how to cook for a nervous gall bladder.

The biggest trick of all, however, is going to be limiting the amount of fat. When a gall bladder is out of whack, you are likely to have trouble digesting fat except in very small quantities.

Avoid all fried foods. Avoid fat meat (stick to lean). Go easy on anything oily, since oil is fat.

IT IS WISE to avoid too-highly seasoned foods. But this doesn't mean that a moderate amount of seasoning, to make food tasty, is not all right.

Likewise it will help if you keep your three (or more) meals a day roughly equal in size, rather than having two light meals and one very hearty meal. That by the way, is one of the things a hospital tries to do.

Too much food at one sitting will put an added strain on the capacity of the gall bladder.

Keep those rules in mind, and you'll find that you have the main "Secrets" of cooking for people with gall bladder trouble.

"Dear Dr. Molner: We had a discussion but I can't convince myself that what I heard was true. I have a friend (with diagetes) who lost a baby which was born with a deformity and lived only two days. She doesn't want any more children, claiming the diabetes was the cause. I can't believe this is true. — Constant Reader."

But it CAN be true. We don't know the reasons, but women with diabetes have a higher proportion of birth difficulties—that is, stillborn babies, or babies with deformities. This does not mean that there is any risk to the mothers, but there is somewhat less likelihood of the baby surviving. At the same time I have known (and so has every doctor) any number of women who have lost a baby because of this, yet have borne healthy babies subsequently.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I read in your column that bananas were a stimulant for sexual activity. If this is so, will you verify this letter? I have been kidded quite a bit by my fellow workers and they don't believe me. Thanking you in advance.—C.A."

Don't thank me—because you didn't read it in this column. I never said it, and I don't think there is any truth in it.

Are you considering the removal of your child's tonsils? If so, remember that nature provided them for a purpose, and this is explained in my pamphlet, "Don't Trifle With Tonsils." To receive your copy, write to me for it in care of this newspaper, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and five cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Army Commences Full-Range Testing of Its Jupiter Missile

Launching Is Preview for Lunar Probe

Flight Across Atlantic Reported Successful; Study Re-Entry Data

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — An Army Jupiter missile, with a range of 1,500 miles, hurtled aloft today on the start of a full-range test of the workhorse vehicle. The Army said the flight across the Atlantic was successful.

The 60-foot missile shot skyward at 12:49 a.m. after waiting out a 6½ hour downpour. It was the 14th launching of the Jupiter, a key rocket in the upcoming Army moon probe and two other major U S. space ventures. The latest Jupiter carried nothing alive, military sources said.

A ship was stationed in the down-range impact area to record data on re-entry of the missile's three sections — nose cone, instrument compartment, and booster.

Jupiter does triple duty as a war missile, moon rocket and a likely test vehicle for Project Mercury, the man-in-space program.

The fiery takeoff was a preview of the Pioneer moon launching which is expected this weekend.

It will be a second attempt to fire a 13-pound gold-plated satellite past the moon and into orbit around the sun. The Soviets said they achieved this with a larger satellite early in January.

2 Venus Probes Slated Tentatively for June

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two U.S. space probes may be rocketed aloft next June in an attempt to solve some of the mysteries of the planet Venus.

One probe, launched by an Atlas-Able rocket, would be designed to orbit Venus. The other, sent aloft by a Thor-Able launching vehicle, would be designed to go past Mars and possibly into a solar orbit.

There have been predictions, too, that the Soviet Union would attempt Venus probes in June.

The Rand Corp., which conducts scientific studies for the Air Force, recently calculated that next June 8 would be the most favorable date until early 1961 for a Venus probe launching.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration acknowledged that probes of Venus and Mars are among the space projects of the future. The launchings will take place at Capa Canaveral, Fla.

MARION YEAR AGO TODAY

TODAY'S ALMANAC

Sun rose at 7:29 a.m. and sets at 6:14 p.m.

ON INDUSTRIAL TOUR. Teachers of Marion's public and parochial schools were busy today touring the city's industrial plants and other businesses for some first hand knowledge of what these concerns do. Looking over a road roller made by the Huber Warco Co., as its function is explained by Marion Kelly, a plant employe, are Mrs. Joan Wilson (on roller), Edison Junior High teacher; Mrs. Dorothy Eckert of the Oakland School, and Warren Foster, elementary physical education instructor. Classes were dismissed while teachers made the tour. The Business-Industry-Education Day program is sponsored by the Marion Chamber of Commerce and its Manufacturers Council.

Strike

its final edition before the pressmen returned to work.

The publishers called that an unauthorized walkout, but the union disagreed. The union said its members were holding a continuous meeting to discuss the publishers' contract offer.

But there was no dispute about the nature of the latest walkout. Promptly at 6 p.m., the pressmen began picketing both newspaper buildings and carried signs reading: "On Strike."

Television and radio stations immediately stepped up their local news coverage to fill the void.

Some added extra news shows or increased the news time on regular shows. Some expanded their news staffs.

One radio station (WTVN) which normally goes off the air at 1 a.m., stayed on all night exclusively for news coverage.

6,000 Carriers Idled

More than 6,000 newspaper carriers became idle by the strike.

The news staff of the Ohio State Journal continued working despite the strike and newsmen on the Dispatch also were expected to report for work. Both staffs are nonunion.

Most members of the Columbus Citizen's news staff are members of Local 13, American Newspaper Guild. They did not report for work this morning, but attended a union meeting at a nearby hotel.

Excluding carriers, the three newspapers employ about 1,700. Of these, around 70 are pressmen.

Pressmen began negotiations for a new contract Dec. 10. Their old contract expired Dec. 31, but they continued working except for the one interruption at the end of January.

Their base pay is $118.18 for a 37½-hour week on the day shift, and $123.18 for a 35-hour week on the night shift.

Originally Sought 20 Per Cent

The union originally asked a 20 per cent wage increase but later dropped its demands to the equivalent of a 12 per cent increase.

The publishers said their latest offer provides for a package hike of nearly 9 per cent. They termed that one of the largest wage increases that any similar union has received in the nation over the last year.

Not including fringe benefits management said its total wage package came to $9.10 in a two-year contract.

The union, which is seeking a one-year contract, disputed the package figure, saying it would come to only $8.10.

The union figured that by its members drawing $2 extra a week in the first six months of 1960, and an added $2 weekly (for a total of $4) in the second six months of that year, the increase would average out to $3.

Package Formula

The union coupled the $3 average, with the proposed $4 weekly increase this year, plus a $1.10 a week insurance premium contribution by management, to arrive at its package figure.

The big stumbling block against contract settlement, however, was the union's demand that it receive time and a half pay after the first five hours of work Saturday night.

The publishers balked; the union said, and insisted on paying time and a half for the first hour after 6½ hours of work, and double time after that. The publishers proposal is currently in operation.

The Dispatch, with a daily circulation of 177,806, and the Ohio State Journal, circulation 79,884, are owned by the Dispatch Printing Co. The Citizen, circulation 89,520, is a Scripps-Howard newspaper.

Waldo School Teacher Hurt In Auto Crash

Two tankers transporting about 6,000 gallons of fuel oil were badly damaged and much of the load lost early today in an accident on Rt. 61, just south of Mount Gilead at 2:45 a.m.

State patrolmen here said the mishap occurred when the front wheels of the rear tanker came loose from the rig and the tanker lurched forward into the first one. It then swerved off the road and turned over against a guardrail.

The tankers were being pulled by a tractor driven by Paul W. Kaiser, 40, of Plain City. Officers said the cab was not damaged and came to rest in the roadway.

Both tankers were punctured and a steady stream of oil flowed from them for some time. No estimate of the fuel loss was available.

Officers said the rear tanker was demolished, incurring a loss of approximately $2,500. The driver was transporting the tankers to Mount Gilead from the Newark area.

A Waldo teacher, en route to work this morning, was injured in a two-car accident on Rt. 95, four and one-half miles east of the Marion County line at 7:35 a.m.

Patrolmen said Mrs. Adah P. Keil, 59, of near Mount Gilead, suffered a cut lower lip and several of her teeth were knocked loose. She was to be treated by a family physician.

According to the report, Mrs. Keil's auto struck the back end of a westbound car driven by Miss Martha M. Kelly, 41, of near Edison which was slowed by dense fog.

Both vehicles were considerably damaged. Mrs. Keil was charged with failure to stop within assured clear distance and cited to appear in Mount Gilead Mayor's Court.

Water

to pump the entire daily supply from the river as long as possible, Mr. Porter said.

—:—

THERE SHOULD be no noticeable difference between the quality or softness of the river water compared with the well water because of laboratory controls maintained and the complete filtration and purification equipment now in operation at the plant, Mr. Porter said.

He added that the use of a new coagulation system at the plant should reduce the quantity of calcium carbonate in the city water supply. The calcium carbonate is the white powdery compound that forms deposits in the water lines and sometimes gives the water a white, cloudy appearance.

Work still to be done to complete the facilities for pumping the water from the river is permanent installation of the last few feet of underground power cables and putting the finishing touches on the intake crib at the edge of the reservoir, he said.

Cables

The Soviet vessel is the trawler Novorossisk, with a crew of 54 men and women. The Navy reported the captain was friendly and cooperative.

The United States acted under an international agreement which the Defense Department said "authorizes investigations by naval ships of official documents of other ships suspected of damaging and interfering with cables under the high seas." Both the United States and the U.S.S.R. are signers of the agreement.

5 Since Saturday

Five transatlantic cables have been damaged since last Saturday in the area off Newfoundland. Fishing vessels of many nations operate in that area and accidental cable damage sometimes occurs in normal deep sea fishing operations.

But the Pentagon said that aerial reconnaissance by American planes "confirmed extended operations of Novorossisk in the area of the cable breaks at the time the breaks occurred."

Under orders from the commander in chief of the Atlantic Fleet, Adm. Jerauld Wright, five men from the antisubmarine-radar picket ship Roy O. Hale climbed aboard the Novorossisk at noon Thursday.

Orders Boarding Party

The trawler was about 120 miles off St. Johns, Newfoundland, in international waters. Wright ordered the boarding party to make the check under a provision of an 1888 treaty to protect cables. Although it was the czarist government of Russia which originally joined in the treaty, officials here said the Soviet government adhered to it in 1926.

In an initial report, Wright said that the skipper of the Hale, Lt. Cmdr. E. J. Korte, and his four men found that the Novorossisk was equipped for deep sea fishing and that all the ship's documents were in order.

Dulles in Second Week Of Cancer Treatments

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today begins his second week of X-ray treatments for cancer.

His doctors said the treatments will continue for at least another two weeks. There is no word yet whether he will be able eventually to return to his desk at the State Department.

The doctors reported he was making satisfactory progress after the hernia operation he underwent two weeks ago today.

Meanwhile Dulles is keeping up with world events, particularly the Berlin crisis, through news reports and talks with State Department associates.

5 Cars Crash In Heavy Fog, Man Is Injured

William Alley, 55, Of Morral Hurt in Pileup on Route 23

A Morral man was hospitalized in an accident early today on Rt. 23 which involved five cars. It occurred one-half mile south of Brush Ridge in dense fog, state patrolmen here reported.

Hospitalized was William P. Alley, 55, of Morral, who suffered a possible broken right leg when he was pinned between two vehicles. He was taken to General Hospital in a Gunder ambulance and his condition was listed as "good" late this morning.

Officers said the five vehicles involved, all southbound, were driven by:

No. 1, Alley, who was stalled on the pavement.

No. 2, J. C. Gibson, 21, of near Morral, stopped behind Alley to assist him.

No. 3, Charles H. Mounts, 33, of Upper Sandusky.

No. 4, David S. Maffet, 63, of Upper Sandusky.

No. 5, James C. McGuire, 20, of near Harpster.

Patrolmen said both Alley and Gibson were outside their autos, attempting to get the Alley vehicle started when the Maffet auto approached, followed by the Mounts car.

Unaware of the stopped vehicles ahead, Mounts started to pass the Maffet car, just as Maffet swerved to the left to avoid colliding with the two stationary autos.

Officers said Mounts careened off the left side of the highway, then swerved back to strike the left rear end of the Gibson car. The impact sent the Gibson auto into the Alley vehicle, pinning Alley between them.

According to the report, the Mounts auto continued on to strike the Gibson and Maffet cars.

Meanwhile, an oncoming pickup truck driven by McGuire swerved to the left as McGuire saw the Mounts vehicle blocking the highway.

The truck went out of control and rolled over on its right side in a ditch, striking a farm fence and post. It was badly damaged. The fence involved was owned by Mrs. Gladys Stewart of 1189 E. Church St.

The Gibson and Mounts vehicles were badly damaged while only minor damage was done to the Alley and Maffet cars, officers said.

Car Skids, Hits Fence

A car driven by Lawrence Weiss of Pleasant Township was damaged early today when it skidded out of control on County Rd. 106 and struck a fence.

Sheriff's deputies said Mr. Weiss was driving west, swerved to avoid hitting a dog and then lost control of the car. The front and right side of the car were damaged, deputies said. The accident occurred at about 2 a.m. and was reported to the sheriff's office at 8:15 a.m.

Marion Boy Injured

A six-year-old boy was injured in one of three traffic accidents investigated Thursday by Marion police. Police also reported an auto-pedestrian accident which occurred Tuesday in which two women claimed minor injuries.

Hurt when he was struck by an automobile in the 200 block of Merchant Ave., at 3:20 p.m., Thursday was John Clark, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Clark of 181 Homer St. He suffered an injury to his face and was taken home by police then later taken to Marion General Hospital by his parents for treatment. He is reported in good condition today.

The driver of the car which struck him was Wilfred L. Weaver of near Marion. He was driving north on Merchant Ave., when the boy ran from behind a sewer cleaning machine and into the path of the car, according to the police report.

The accident in which two women claimed injury occurred at 2:30 p.m., Tuesday at W. Church and S. Prospect streets. Mrs. Hazel L. Zentler, 35, of Mount Gilead stopped a policeman on the street at about 3 p.m., and told him about the accident and said that two women would not remain at the scene until police could be called.

She said she was making a left turn from S. Prospect St., on to W. Church St., and the two women were walking north on S. Prospect St. Mrs. Zentler said the two women would go to a doctor's office for treatment of their injuries.

The two women were Mrs. Louise Johnson of 180 W. Center St., who said she suffered injuries to her neck and hips and Bessie Davis of the same address who said she suffered a bruised left arm. They appeared at the police station more than an hour after the accident occurred to report their injuries to police. An accident report card was not completed immediately because of the circumstances surrounding the accident.

A car driven by Conard A. Rogerson of 247 Peterson Ave., was struck from the rear Thursday at W. Center and Oak streets. The driver of the other car was Ruth Thrush of 980 Woodrow Ave.

A collision in the 200 block of E. Fairground St. at 7:14 p.m., Thursday involved cars driven by Charles A. Ziegler, 18, of 353 Homer St., and Charles E. Schell, 17, of near Newark.

Chapel Heights Group Names Harold F. Robinson President

New officers and three trustees were elected Thursday night at the annual meeting of the Chapel Heights Memorial Gardens Association in the chapel north of Marion on Rt 23.

Harold F. Robinson of 243 N. Greenwood St., a trustee of the association, was elected president. He succeeds William Rizor of 633 Henry St.

Named Vice President

Walter Collins of 134 Jefferson St. was elected vice president, succeeding Arthur L. Watt of 591 Oak St. Mrs. Bert Gilmore of 205½ S. State St., also a trustee, succeeded Mr. Robinson as secretary-treasurer.

Fred W. Thacker of near Marion was named to a five-year term as trustee. He succeeds Mr. Rizor. Mr. Collins was elected to a three-year term as trustee and Wilfred Orton of 200 Patten St. was elected to a one-year term.

Mr. Collins succeeds Mr. Watt who was appointed in April upon the resignation of Fred P. Haas of 202 Forest Lawn Blvd. Mr. Orton succeeds Albert L. Cooperider of 800 Sheridan Rd., who was appointed earlier this month to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Elery Brewer of near Marion.

Most of the four-hour meeting was spent in heated discussion of a lawsuit filed against the association in December 1957 by Maurice Lambroff of Lambroff Realty Co., former sales representative for the association.

Will Seek Settlement

It was reported by trustees today that a quick settlement will be sought.

A five-man investigating committee, appointed in November, handed out written recommendations to the lot owners. The chief recommendation concerned revision or amendment to the code of regulations in connection with qualifications and responsibilities of trustees.

Deficit

brought in $2,624. A transfer from the fair funds accounted for another $2,000 listed under receipts.

Other income sources listed in the report are: automobile shows, $966; dog show, $361; rental for meetings, $324; balance on hand as of Dec. 1, 1957, $314, and miscellaneous, $11.

Heating the big building took the biggest chunk out of the Coliseum funds. Expenditures for fuel oil are listed as $3,521. Electric bills ate up another $2,267 and addition of two locker rooms cost $2,570, according to the report.

Labor costs are listed as $1,203 and building maintenance and repair totaled $999. Other Coliseum expenditures reported were:

Water, $760; gas, $281; telephone, $165; furnace repair, $449; supplies, $140; sound, $90; electricians, $316; interest on loans, $723; Ohio Sports Service, Inc., for permit to sell food, $30, and city food license, $15.

The agricultural society got its biggest hunk of revenue from the livestock sale which brought in $33,803. Staging the sale, however, also was the biggest expenditure — $33,408 — for a total profit of $395.

Among other receipts listed by the society were:

Privilege fees (concessions), $9,331; gate admissions, $7,915; grandstand admissions, $3,803; boxes, $134; speed fees, $3,080; class entry fees, $1,171; space fees, $1,168; stall, barn and pen rentals, $2,408; funds from county commissioners, $1,500; funds from the county, $6,000; Ohio Department of Agriculture funds, $1,000; Ohio Fairs Fund, $5,865; parimutuel take, $661, and advertising, $1,910.

In addition to the $14,288 it spent for Coliseum operations, the society put out $10,497 in speed purses, the report said. Junior Fair premiums totaled $5,237.

Other expenditures included:

Printing, office supplies and fair ribbons, $2,233; class premiums, $6,590; special attractions and music, $4,483; labor, $1,543; caretaker, $1,406; electricity, $1,235; tent rental, $1,500, and repairs and replacements, $3,844.

Robinson Seeking Change in Village Court Jurisdiction

By Our Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS—State Rep. Kenneth Robinson (R-Marion) introduced a court bill in the House Thursday which would strip village mayors of jurisdiction outside their communities.

Chief significance of the measure would be to channel all state highway patrol cases to county courts rather than mayor's courts. Rep. Robinson said some villages now receive more than $50,000 a year, mostly from the patrol fines and costs.

Other sections of the bill would limit municipal and county court judges to jurisdiction only within the areas in which they are elected and abolish the fee system for constables.

Rep. Robinson also will co-sponsor a bill Monday with Rep. F. K. Cassell (R-Wyandot) which would require the Ohio Division of Wildlife to pay full taxes to the school districts in which it owns land.

The division currently is required to pay only up to 10 mills in any district.

Trial Examiner Sick, Labor Hearing Recessed

Because of an illness of the trial examiner which developed Thursday, a National Labor Relations Board hearing of unfair labor practices charges against the Marion Division of the Whirlpool Corp. has been recessed until March 9.

The examiner, A. Bruce Hunt of Washington, D.C., became ill Thursday afternoon. The hearing opened Tuesday in the Municipal Court room at City Hall.

Testimony of Henry Boles of New Bloomington, an employe at the plant was completed Thursday and another witness was on the stand when Mr. Hunt became ill. Some 36 persons have been subpeonaed to testify in the case.

Appeals Filed In Convictions By Court Here

Two men convicted in Marion Municipal Court of speeding charges and fined $20 and $25 and costs announced Thursday through their attorney, Roy W. Roof of Kenton, that they will file appeals with the Third District Court of Appeals.

Bradford K. Brady, 21, of near Marion was charged last Oct. 1 and was found guilty by Acting Judge Bernard Moloney on Jan. 15, 1959, and fined $25 and costs. Mr. Roof filed a motion for a new trial on Jan. 16 and this was overruled by Judge Moloney on Feb. 13.

Thursday, Mr. Roof, on behalf of Mr. Brady, filed a precipe for the docket and journal entires so that an appeal may be filed.

In a journal entry, Mr. Roof alleged that the judgment of the court was contrary to law and not sustained by the evidence, the findings of fact and the judgment were manifestly against the weight of the evidence, the court erred by overruling the motion for a new trial, in admitting evidence on behalf of the state which the defendant objected to, in rejecting evidence on behalf of the defendant to which the defendant objected, in permitting an auxiliary state highway patrolman to testify over the objections of the defendant and that many other errors were apparent upon the face of the record "preventing the defendant from having a fair and impartial trial."

The other man planning to appeal with Mr. Roof as his attorney is Nicholas J. Wall, 30, of Richwood. He was arrested Oct. 25, 1958, and was convicted last Jan. 15 and fined $20 and costs by Judge Moloney.

Mr. Roof filed a motion for a new trial and it was denied by Judge Moloney on Feb. 13.

His reasons in asking for a new trial were the same as those listed in Brady's case with the exception that in the Wall case there was no reference to testimony by an auxiliary patrol officer.

Africa

as usual. No troops were seen in the streets—and not even many policemen.

But some Africans warned that the arrests of between 250 and 500 African National party leaders in Southern Rhodesia were bound to have a bad effect on the two million blacks in this territory dominated by 176,000 whites.

One of those seized was Daniel Mazimabuto, a coproducer of the film "African Drum Rolls" which drew its usual packed audience here Thursday night. He is director of the African Cultural Syndicate and a nationalist leader.

Salisbury is the capital of both this self-governing territory and the Central African Federation, which also includes the British protectorates of Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

Southern Rhodesia Prime Minister Sir Edgar Whitehead said he proclaimed the emergency to save the federation—a member of the British Commonwealth — from extreme nationalism which, he said, "would be fatal." His aim obviously was to round up nationalist leaders.

The agitation, which has been simmering since the British set up the federation six years ago, flared into the open over last weekend with five days of rioting. Three natives were killed and more than 50 injured.

Reports from Nyasaland said the violence had subsided with the arrival there of crack British-led African troops rushed from Salisbury by the Central Federation government.

though the pistol lay on the seat, the hijacker made no effort to use it when a deputy poked a shotgun at him.

At the Highway Patrol barracks in Elyria where the arrested man was being questioned, patrolmen identified him as Charlie Mitchell, 36. The man gave several addresses.

Bible Words for Today

PHILIPPIANS 2:3 — "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus." (KJV)

First of all, there was in Jesus Christ the humble mind. True humility is the doorway to all spiritual growth. It produces a life that is simple, genuine, approachable. One who has this quality erects no false barriers between himself and others.

A second characteristic of the mind of Christ was obedience. We are told that he was obedient even unto death. His life is an immortal demonstration of the fact that there is an order, a discipline in the spiritual world. Jesus persistently refused to temporize with truth. To obey the truth honestly is a revolutionary business. Are we willing to let its demands be wrought out in our lives?

In the third place, the Master was possessed of a sacrificial mind. He was willing to follow the road to the end, though it brought him loneliness, disappointment and Calvary. Our surrender must be complete, if we are to have the mind of Christ.

Democrats Meet To Pick Site for 1960's Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Committee gathered today to make a final choice for the party's 1960 national convention city.

Los Angeles, recommended by a site committee, was favored to win over 11th hour challenges from Philadelphia and Chicago.

Six cities were in the original competition. On Jan. 18, an eight-member committee headed by Camille F. Gravel Jr. of Louisiana agreed on Los Angeles, whose bid included $350,000 cash plus use of a new 17,000-seat sports arena.

Other matters likely to come before the committee include plans for a fund-raising series of dinners May 8 in honor of former President Harry S. Truman's 75th birthday; a proposal to make national committee members automatic members of their state delegations; and a resolution authorizing a convention arrangements committee.

Saturday night the committee stages its $100-a-plate national victory dinner at which it expects about 2,000 guests. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn, both Texans, head a list of 14 speakers.

Eaton's Head Sees Promising Future, Expansion

John C. Virden Speaks At Luncheon, Tells Of Growth Here

Expansion of production and facilities is in the planning for the Marion forge division plant of the Eaton Manufacturing Co.

No plant additions will be necessary in the near future but will be undertaken when necessary.

Such was the optimistic outlook for the years ahead expressed by top officials of the company at an informal luncheon Thursday noon with city and school officials and representatives of Marion industry and business.

John C. Virden, Eaton president and chairman of the board of directors, said that the total dollar value of the output of the company's 18 divisions and subsidiaries reached 190 millions in 1958.

By 1963, the company hopes to more than double this output to a total of 200 millions, he said.

TO REACH this goal, Mr. Virden said the company is taking steps to intensify and diversify its operations.

He said that the company, by comparison with other years, made a poor showing in 1958 but that it still earned $3.46 a share for its stockholders and that if production figures of the automobile and truck industry hold true this year, the company should earn more than $5 a share. Predicted automobile output this year is 5.2 million units and the truck industry expects to produce 900,000 units, he said.

"We think there is room for expansion in Marion," he told the group and added, "we like the community climate here."

Clouding the optimism a little is the international situation and the possibility of strikes in the steel and rubber industries later this year, he said. Such strikes would have an adverse effect on Eaton operations, he said.

Mr. Virden said that Eaton Mfg. Co. was founded in 1911 by Joseph O. Eaton who headed the firm until his death in 1949. Mr. Virden has been president and board chairman for two years and previously was chairman of the board of directors of the Cleveland Federal Reserve Bank.

William Mattie, executive vice president in charge of manufacturing and a member of the board of directors said, "The future looks good in Marion," and also expressed the corporate attitude toward Marion with the remark, "We wish we had more of our plants in cities like Marion.

THE COMPANY is proud of its facilities here and the forgings produced, 95 per cent of which go the company's axle division, are of good quality, he said. He added that the Marion plant is a captive plant because most of its output goes to the axle division.

Both Mr. Virden and Mr. Mattie were introduced by Thomas Moretti, general manager of the plant here. He also spoke of the improved output of the local plant.

He said that from the standpoint of industry, 1956 was one of the best productive years, but that in 1958 most industry dropped off 20 to 25 per cent over 1957.

By comparison, the plant here dropped only seven per cent over the previous year and this was largely due to the efforts of the local plant management team, he said.

The last quarter of 1958 was the best in the history of the local plant operation and January of this year was the biggest shipping month ever, Mr. Moretti said. This month, the output will better the January record by some 25 per cent, he said. All indications are that the first quarter of this year will see more output than the total for all of 1958, he said.

DESCRIBING the management staff of the local plant as hard working and energetic, he said it deserved much of the credit for the success of local operations.

Mr. Moretti then introduced the top plant officials and described their duties. Those he introduced were: John R. Smart, plant comptroller; Charles Barnes, director of purchasing; Elmer Leedom, production control manager; John Hrehov, chief metallurgist; Henry Klempan, industrial engineer; Norman Dooley, chief engineer; William Roberts, general superintendent in charge of production and maintenance, and C. J. Roberts, director of employe relations.

Guests attending who were introduced by Mr. Moretti, were: Mayor Wendell L. Strong who in turn introduced Police Chief Justin Cornely; Robert S. Brown, superintendent of city schools; Hugh E. Webster, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; R. T. Mason, president and general manager of WMRN; John A. Maxwell Jr., editor of The Star, and Charles Harmon, president of the C. of C.

EATON OFFICIALS OPTIMISTIC. Future of the Marion forge division plant of the Eaton Mfg. Co. was discussed Thursday noon by William Mattie (left), executive vice president in charge of manufacturing and a member of the board of directors; John C. Virden (center), president and chairman of the board, and Thomas A. Moretti, general manager of the Marion plant.

AFL-CIO Break Is Seen In Reuther-Meany Fight

By VICTOR RIESEL

There was some mighty rough deriding of each other by Walter Reuther and George Meany in the second battle of San Juan Hill—which opened a labor war that some insiders believe will again split the AFL and CIO into two feuding outfits.

VICTOR RIESEL

From behind the scenes of labor's high command sessions in Puerto Rico come reports that the "angry young man," Walter Reuther, has decided to challenge the policy making powers of Mr Labor himself, George Meany, official leader of 3½ million AFL-CIO members

The subdued bitterness between America's two most influential labor chiefs flared and exploded like sun spots in Meany's Hotel Caribe Hilton room on the night of Feb 16 Here's a blow-by-blow description of the feud's blast-off into a conflict which later lined the younger CIO leaders in one bloc against the elders of the old AFL.

On Monday night in the blunt jargon of New Yorkers, Meany asked Reuther, who is more the rapier type, just what the hell he meant by discussing the organization of a task force to run a labor march on Washington without first consulting with him Meany also wanted to know why Reuther started discussions without waiting for the AFL CIO president to arrive in Puerto Rico.

THAT ACRID HOUR heated the room to the point where the long thick glass wall sheer melted Reuther left in a fury to talk strategy with his old CIO colleagues It is absolute fact that word spread in the highest most responsible circles that there might not be a united AFL-CIO Executive Council session the next morning

There was Meany eased off after a night's sleep. He apologized to Reuther the next morning Reuther rejected the apology. The brawl was on again Some of the verbiage would never have been permitted in Boston or even in Mencken's "American Language"

The next day Meany met the CIO leaders in a bloc They talked frankly about their right to take positions and to act without consulting him Meany, who can move like a trip hammer, attempted to soothe the men who had led some four million workers from the mass industries into a partnership with the AFL a little more than three years ago. There was outward peace

But only the naive will see this as anything but the calm before the labor storm The differences between George Meany and Walter Reuther are and have been literally global

IT WAS LOGICAL that the open fight should come now in the second year of what the scientists call the Spatial Age We can't talk of building roads and a farm on the moon or hear reports that the Russians are about to put a man in orbit around the earth without realizing that U S industry is going Spatial too

It's the era of the missile men, not the era of the masses of semi-skilled assembly-line men These "operational" workers are growing fewer That means Reuther's Auto Union and other old CIO units are losing members permanently

As the semi skilled workers are replaced by the installation and maintenance crews needed by the new machine brain factories, the skilled trades — the crafts — grow stronger

They are the opponents of Reuther inside labor They are the old AFL unions

Of course, Reuther has recognized this On Feb 13 — just three days before he battled Meany — Reuther dispatched a very significant "Administrative Letter" to all that the Auto Workers Executive Board was revamping its special skilled workers division inside the union.

THIS SECTION will be guided by a new nine - man National Skilled Trades Advisory Committee It will be a powerful division The committee will attempt to hold the field against the old AFL crafts

The pressures on Reuther are obvious And his reaction to them are obviously Reutherian. He and his CIO colleagues want to hit the streets with demonstrations

They want government action to create new jobs in their fields They want to make it a political fight Yet this is not the way of the former AFL Nor is it George Meany's way

It does seem that the second battle of San Juan Hill is just a skirmish in a new civil war.

Radnor Bumped 61-43 by Fredericktown

Green Camp Eliminates Newark Irish in 44-42 Thriller

By ALLAN BOVEY

It's Green Camp vs. Prospect Tuesday night in the Coliseum, with the winner to advance to district tournament basketball play in the state fairgrounds Coliseum.

The pairing of the two Marion County League rivals was determined Thursday night when the Panthers of Coach Dale Kinsell turned back second-seeded Newark Catholic 44-42 in Central District Sectional play before 1,650 howling fans.

FREDERICKTOWN earned the right to clash with Bill Phillips' Ridgedale Rockets Wednesday night by pounding Radnor 61-43.

The Green Camp-Prospect tilt will give the Panthers a golden opportunity to pay the Bulldogs back for the 67-54 blasting handed them in the Marion County tourney title game. Green Camp bounced Prospect 59-55 in regular season play.

Green Camp won its way into the important tangle like champions should — by coming through in the clutch. And it was a clutch that had disaster stamped on it in letters everyone could see.

In fact, but for accuracy at the foul line, Kinsell's Panther five would have run out of hope long before the final horn. For Green Camp scored 9 points in the final hectic 8 minutes, and every one of them came via the bonus route.

And the toast, at game's end, of every frenzied Panther fan was Bob Flach, whose 17 points (the night's high) included the brace of free throws that won it with three seconds left in the game.

Green Camp scored first in the action on a free throw by Flach and by the quarter had a 12-9 lead. Kinsell's boys were out front 24-19 at halftime, but from then on the Coliseum was no place for the weak of heart.

With 2:52 left in the third, Green Camp had a 29-26 edge. At the 1:11 mark, however, a goal by Newark's Bob Fatzinger put the Irish in the van at 30-29. Flach came to the rescue with a goal to make it 31-30 and the Panthers were never headed thereafter.

IT'S PROBLEMATICAL whether Green Camp was the victim of pressure or Newark Catholic lucky in the finale. The Panthers, finishing the third frame with a 35-30 edge, built up their advantage in the payoff stanza until, with 3:27 left, they held a 10-point lead at 42-32. Then the drouth set in.

Newark's Al Howard rolled in a goal to make it 42-34. Dick Johnson added a fielder, Howard got a brace of free throws, Fatzinger dunked one and Green Camp fans were stricken with paralysis. With 1:13 left, Johnson came through and the score, incredibly, was even at 42-42.

Green Camp, with life hanging in the balance, stalled for a final shot but Flach was fouled by Johnson. You wouldn't have given a nickle for Panther chances then except for one thing. Flach had made 9 of 11 free throws and he wasn't missing this time. Both tosses dropped in and the victory was in the bag.

All told, Kinsell's cagers got 11 goals and 22 of 34 free throws, compared to 16 from the field and 10 of 19 for Walt Reid's quintet.

Some 36 fouls were whistled in the action, 14 against the Panthers, 22 against the Irish. Green Camp lost Dick Johnson with 2:38 left in the fourth period, while Newark lost Howard and Swank, both in the finale.

Loy Crum added 10 points to the 17 scored by Flach for Green Camp's cause. Tom Callahan posted 14 for Newark, 10 of them in the second frame.

The sterling victory sends Kinsell's cagers against Prospect with a 17-5 record. The Bulldogs are 17-3.

There was a bit more convention attached to the Fredericktown-Radnor tilt, with the Freddies coming through in fine style to oust the Trojans 61-43.

Marvin Shaffer's buckos got off to an 18-7 quarter lead, had stretched their advantage to 30-21 at the half, and were sailing high, wide and handsome before a 48-29 wind at the three-quarter mark.

By game's end, Fredericktown, winning its 15th game against 7 losses, had rolled in 24 goals and 13 of 26 free throws. Radnor, winding up its season with a 17-5 showing, got 18 from the field and 7 of 16 via the charity circle.

THE FREDDIES were outscored in the second frame, 14-12, and in the finale, 14-13, but they put the action on ice in the third with a blistering 18-point attack. Radnor could manage but 8 for the same frame.

A contributing factor to the Trojans' poor showing may have been the fact that ace scorer Ted Coonfare fouled out of the contest with nine seconds left in the third.

Otherwise, Fredericktown simply had too much accuracy from the field for Radnor to cope with.

High for the victors was Dave White with 20 points. Preston Leedy added 18. Dick Gearhiser and David James were tops for Radnor with 12 and 11 points respectively.

Harding Duels Shelby for District Tourney Berth

Prexies Seek 3rd Sectional Triumph

Harding bids for its first district tournament berth since moving into the Northwest District when it tangles with Shelby tonight at the Coliseum floor.

The winner of tonight's contest will qualify for district play here next week against one of the Lima Sectional winners. Ashland and Mansfield will clash at the Coliseum Saturday night for the right to battle the other Lima winner.

—:—

HARDING WENT into sectional play with a 9-9 record and has hiked its mark to 11-9 with a pair of wins in tourney action. Last Friday night, Coach Don Knodel's charges opened the sectional event with a 66-44 win over Mansfield Madison and then came back Saturday to rout Crestline 84-41 in one of their most impressive performances of the year. The Harding squad connected on 11 of its first 14 shots in Saturday's conquest.

Shelby, claiming a 9-9 record, has been in only one tournament test. The Whippets rolled past Bucyrus last Friday. Coach Chuck Williams' cagers grabbed a 13-3 lead in the first period and were never threatened seriously.

Williams has been hampered by lack of height this year at Shelby but on several occasions, the Whippets have made up for their lack of stature by scrap and determination.

"We have been beaten most of the time on the boards," Williams said. That factor serves to make the Presidents top-heavy favorites in tonight's contest, he feels.

WILLIAMS expects to go with his regular starting five in the game here. That will find John Brown, a 6-2, 170-pound senior, and Tim Durkin, 6-1, 155-pound senior, at the forwards and Larry St. John, a 6-0, 150-pound senior, at center. The guard positions will be held down by Gene George, 5-9, 138-pound junior, and Lennie Reidel, 5-11, 165 pound senior.

Reidel is the only starter from last year's Shelby team although St. John won a varsity letter in a relief role. Reidel is the team's top scoring threat. He popped in 24 points against Bucyrus including 16 straight free throws. Durkin netted 13 in the Whippets' first tourney appearance and George came up with 10.

Williams' chief substitutes in the front line are Fred McKinney, a 6-1 junior, and Harold Armentrout, a 6-0 sophomore. For help in the backcourt he leans on Jeff Laubie, a 5-8 junior speedster, and Dave Livingston, a 5-11 junior.

KNODEL ALSO is expected to start with his regular cagers. That would include Bob Middleton and Mike Chamberlain at forwards, Chuck Campbell at center and George Kirk and Stan Larkin at the guards.

During regular season play Harding shelled the Whippets 70-50 on the losers' floor.

Tonight's game is scheduled to get under way at 8 p.m.

Miss Heiss Retains World Skate Title

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The queen of figure skating, incomparable Carol Heiss of the United States, looked ahead today to the 1960 Olympics after sailing off with her fourth straight world title Thursday night.

None among the 15 challengers from seven other nations seriously threatened the reign of the 19-year-old New York University co-ed.

Austrian Girl Second

Austria's Hanna Walter placed second. Following in order were Sjoukje Dijkstra of The Netherlands, Ina Bauer of West Germany and Barbara Ann Roles of Paramount, Calif.

Carol's coach, Pierre Brunet, and others said her free skating performance was not up to her usual standard Thursday night.

"I gave too much in the first part of my program and then my legs became wobbly," Carol said. "That was horrifying. I was afraid I would weaken near the end."

Brunet said Carol's showing suffered from the lack of a suitable practice schedule at the Broadmoor Ice Palace. He said the relatively small rink cramped training sessions.

Suffers Only Spill

Only Miss Walter of the top performers took a spill. She blamed this on a combination of fatigue and nervousness.

Carol and Miss Dijkstra were the only skaters to successfully complete the double axel—a maneuver in which the skater leaps high into the air and completes two and one-half turns.

The competition continued today with the men's compulsory figures followed by compulsory dances tonight.

Scheffing Terms Redlegs Most Improved NL Team

By The Associated Press

Bob Scheffing, Chicago Cubs' manager, looked over the National League today and called the Cincinnati Reds the most improved team in the senior circuit.

"Mind you, I'm not saying which team's going to finish where, but the way I see it, Cincinnati improved the most over the winter," Scheffing said. "Getting Frank Thomas from the Pirates was a big move for the Reds.

Vada Pinson Impressive

"Then, they'll have that kid outfielder Vada Pinson back and he's impressed me every time I saw him play."

Scheffing wasn't particularly optimistic about his own team.

"We improved last year because Ernie Banks had a tremendous season. So did Bobby Thomson, Alvin Dark and Lee Walls. Will they do as well this time? I really don't know."

Banks, the league's most valuable player, took batting practice for the first time Thursday and knocked the ball 25 feet over the fence on his third swing.

Thomas also got in some good licks at Cincinnati's camp in Tampa, Fla. The slugger hit several of Don Newcombe's pitches out of the park and later predicted he would hit between 30 and 35 homers for his new club.

Doby Holding Key

Larry Doby's switch from the outfield to first base, it turns out, is the key to the season's starting lineup for the Cleveland Indians.

"If Doby is all right physically, he's got to play. We need his bat," said Manager Joe Gordon.

Trade Chances Dim

Tribe Manager Satisfied With Available Material

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Manager Joe Gordon says he is pretty well satisfied with the Cleveland baseball club "just the way it stands."

That was his answer when General Manager Frank Lane informed him there were indications the Indians would not be able to make a trade of importance before the season opens April 10.

Lane, touring the training camps in Florida, has found that the price of a new third baseman — particularly Hector Lopez of the Kansas City Athletics—is exhorbitantly high. Lane arrives here Monday.

There were only four absentees Thursday at the Indians' first full-scale workout. Forty-two players were in uniform.

Absent were Minnie Minoso, Vic Power, Billy Moran and Rod Graber. Moran was delayed by car trouble in New Mexico and Graber was given permission to report late. No word was heard from Minoso and Power.

"I'm not concerned about Minoso and Power," Gordon said. "I don't care when they get here because they've been playing ball all winter. The rest might do 'em good."

'Y' Wrestlers In Final Dual Meet of Year

The Marion YMCA wrestling team will travel to Ashland Saturday for its final dual meet of the 1958-59 season. The local team has had its poorest season in the past three years with a 7-2 record and will be out to boost the winning side of the column against what could be its top competition of the current campaign.

Ashland, which last year was considered one of best first year teams in the Area, with an all junior team, moved into the high school for the 1959 season and should be primed and experienced for the match. Newcomer, Halderman and Lukity should be among the best on the squad, Coach Dean Ludwig reported.

Starting the match for Marion, with their current records will be Dale Kibbey (4-2) at 120 pounds, Joel Lenavitt (4-3) at 127, along with Chris Kimball (1-0) at the same weight. At 133 will be co-captain Bill Thatcher (8-1) at 138, Harry Spring (7-1) and at 145 Bud Kelley (7-0). At 154 will be John Keller (2-5-1) at 165 will be Jerry Gibson (6-2). In the heavier weight groups will be Abner Thomas (6-0-2) at 175 and Pete Wolfinger (0-3-1), at unlimited. The local team's next home test will be in the Marion Invitational Wrestling tournament, March 7.

Van Wert Dentist Gets First License

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Maurice Forwalter, 64 - year-old Van Wert dentist, can start fishing Monday with the distinction of having Ohio's No. 1 1959 fishing license. Nearly a million of the new fishing permits were on sale throughout the state this week prior to expiration of the 1958 permit Sunday.

Forwalter, an avid angler who collects everything from Indian relics to coins, has received Ohio's first fishing license for about 20 years. He also receives the A-1 Ohio hunting license plus the No. 1 non-resident fishing license from Indiana and Michigan.

Signs 8-Year Pact

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Dan Devine, who came to the University of Missouri as head football coach a year ago, signed an eight-year contract today.

President Elmer Ellis said the new agreement, effective Sunday, is binding on both parties. It specifies that Devine agrees to stay at M. U. for eight years without seeking employment elsewhere. His salary was not announced.

ARCHERY SKILL REWARDED. Don Montgomery (right) of 691 Henry St., receives an archery award from Merrill Gilfillan, representing the Buckeye Big Bucks Club. The award, made at a banquet in Columbus' Ft. Hayes Hotel, recognized Montgomery's skill as an archer for downing a large buck in the Olentangy wildlife area near Waldo. Archer Montgomery was the only bow hunter given a membership in the club, which recognizes, specifically, trophy-antlered Ohio deer.

Mantle, Yankees Settle for $30,000

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —Mickey Mantle, New York Yankees outfielder, finally came to terms on a contract today which gave him an estimated raise of $8,000 to $30,000 for the 1959 season.

The No. 1 power man of the world champions flew to the Yankee training camp from Dallas Thursday night, after previous negotiations had failed to produce an agreement.

"I am satisfied," Mantle said after a conference with George Weiss, Yankee general manager.

Weiss had sent Mantle a contract offering $65,000.

Armstrong Battles Italian in TV Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Business is picking up for Gene (Ace) Armstrong, the undefeated middleweight.

The 27-year-old contender from Elizabeth, N.J., takes on Italo Scortichini, the Italian middleweight king, in a television 10-rounder (NBC 10 p.m. EST) at Madison Square Garden tonight. Armstrong is the 2-1 favorite.

This marks Armstrong's second fight of the year. That matches his activity for all of 1958. Sometimes it doesn't pay to be too good. The Ace, who has a 16-0 record for 3½ years of pro fighting, has been finding it difficult to get the other members of the top 10 elite to mingle with him. Armstrong is ranked fifth by the NBA and 10th by Ring.

The Giants have failed to beat Milwaukee pitcher Lew Burdette since Sept. 16, 1954. Meanwhile, the hurler has beaten the Giants 12 times.

Three British Boxers Rated With Leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — Throw away those old gags about horizontal British heavyweights. For the first time since Ring Magazine started its world boxing ratings 33 years ago, three of the big boys from the British Isles occupied berths among the heavyweight division's top 10 contenders.

The monthly ring ratings, released today, had British and British Empire champion Henry Cooper fourth and two former British and B. E. rulers, Brian London and Joe Erskine, ninth and tenth, respectively.

Erskine, a 25-year-old - Welshman, rejoined the select group on the strength of his upset, 10-round decision over American Willie Pastrano in London Monday.

Pastrano, of Miami Beach, Fla., was dropped from fifth place to seventh for his narrow defeat.

In all, half of the list was filled by foreigners. Sweden's undefeated European heavyweight champion, Ingemar Johansson, and Cuba's Nino Valdes maintained their one-two positions.

The remainder of the top 10 includes Zora Folley, Chandler, Ariz., third; Sonny Liston, Philadelphia, fifth; light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, San Diego, Calif., sixth, and Eddie Machen, Redding, Calif., eighth.

'Y' Swimmers In Final Meet At Home Pool

The 1958 National YMCA swimming champions from the Dayton YMCA will invade Marion Saturday to meet the local natators in their final home appearance of the season.

The vistors are headed by two excellent divers in Dick Kurpe and Dick Flynn, an All-American butterfly - breaststroker John Stover and all - around swimmer Don Brinkman. In the prep age group the Dayton team has four National AAU record breakers that last year set new national standards in the medley and freestyle relays for boys ten and under.

Swimming their final dual meet for Marion are Captain Ed Cooper, Dan Thompson and Dick White. Other starters in the intermediate division where Marion has a 6-2 record will be Tom Ruzzo, Bruce Kohler, Bob Finney, Al McKee, Scott Pickerel, John Wettergreen and Ken Tillman. This experienced group will be the nucleus of next year's team.

Marion's junior team has had a disappointing season due to a lack of manpower but still has a number of outstanding swimmers that will rank high in area action. Starting in the meet will be Bob White, Dave Rothwell, Tom Ivers, Mike Bartley, Bill Flournoy, Jack Howser and Louis Dye. Jim Lenavitt, butterflyer, will miss action due to a broken hand.

Facing Dayton's undefeated prep power Coach Warren Foster also has a fine team that has won five and lost one behind the able swimming of Tom Shambaugh, Dave Price, Gregg Harruff, Chuck Wettergreen, Steve McKenzie, Dan Hale, Ted Wittibslager, John Murray, Terry Green, Jay Plymale and Dave Richards.

In the midget division Marion starters will be Eric Ruppart, Jay Casey, Tim Byrnes, Phil Sheehe, Gary McKenzie, Jim Casey and Ed Baxter.

The meet will get under way at 1:15 p.m. with the pool doors open to the public at 12:30. Next week the team will travel to Bowling Green State University for the finals in the prep division and the district for juniors and intermediates.

Claim for $6,800 Studied by Judge

A suit for $6,800 in damages and a restraining order against William Christian of 751 Fountain St. was taken under consideration Thursday afternoon by Common Pleas Judge Paul D. Smith.

Judge Smith heard testimony in the suit Wednesday and Thursday. It was filed last October by Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas of 701 Fountain St. She alleges the defendant had obstructed public alleys at the edges of her property and that he tore down her barn.

The defendant waived a jury hearing and requested that the judge alone hear the case.

City Garbage Collection Hours Change Monday

Starting Monday morning garbage collections in Marion will be moved up one hour earlier, Howard W. Travis, city safety-service director, reported today.

He said the sanitation and service department crews will begin work at 7 a.m. rather than the customary 8 a.m. Their working day will end at 4 p.m.

The safety-service director, noted, however, that the sanitation office in City Hall will continue to open at 8 a.m. The new hours will be observed at the city garage and by the working crews only.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

A Matter of Economics

JOHN CROSBY

Costs are becoming an awful problem on television. Gads, I remember way back when the Milton Berle Show — the whole hour, including musicians, writers, chorus girls, guest stars and Berle — came to $17,000.

Today you hardly can get the dog act for that. Today you hardly can get anything for $17,000 except prolonged commercials on day-time television.

Sure, television is graced by an occasional "Hamlet" or "For Whom the Bell Tolls." But increasingly, the specials and even the regulars like "Playhouse 90" are falling behind their budgets.

Television more and more is in an era of deficit financing like government. Sometimes the deficits are fairly formidable, too. Eventually they will be downright frightening.

ALREADY "See It Now" has vanished, mostly though not solely because it was too expensive. The other serious operations on television — most of them, anyway — are sustained by deficit financing that cannot go on forever.

However, even apart from the shows that have disappeared altogether, like "See It Now," the rising problem of cost has cut the quality of television in less spectacular ways.

Already a good many writers, including several who started in television, said they won't write for TV because TV can't afford them. That applies also to actors. To get a cast like that in "For Whom the Bell Tolls" you have to go way over your bedget. If the best writers are unobtainable you must take lesser writers and get a lesser script.

ALL OF WHICH leads me to ask the question aloud that I have been asking myself for a long time: Can the advertisers afford television much longer? Or, to put it another way, can they afford good television, which is what we are primarily concerned with here?

Sure, the advertiser can afford to turn on the network and fill it almost uninterruptedly with commercials, as is being done now on daytime television. Or, he could fill the night-time air with garbage — Westerns and parlor games.

But is this enough? It's not enough for me. I am increasingly in favor of pay television, because I think it is the only solution to the interesting problems.

I never have been naive enough to suppose that pay TV automatically would open the flood gates to operas, symphonies and really worthwhile things. Let's not delude ourselves with great expectations. There will be plenty of junk on pay TV, too.

But at least there will be plenty of money to put on decent dramas. Actors we've got; writers we've got; directors we've got; and the creative energy of this country is at white heat. All we haven't got is money — at least on television we haven't.

I WOULD dearly love to see a top producer like Fred Coe given enough money to pull together all the elements he needs in writing and acting and then thrown into competition with the junk merchants at the box office.

If it were a question of paying a quarter to see a "Playhouse 90" (or a top drawer two-hour live drama), as against paying a quarter to see "I've Got a Secret," who do you suppose would win? And you can't argue with the cash register.

Ratings, I'm convinced, are hogwash, but you can't dismiss the cash register that lightly.

Television should be restored to to the hands of the showmen instead of the advertisers. Again, this is not necessarily Nirvana. There have been some awfully shoddy, sensational, cheapjack showmen. But at least the aim of any showman is to entertain, not simply to sell goods.

Just the absence of commercials would add so much to some shows. Already good directors are driven out of their wits by inserting advertisements in the middle of tender, dramatic scenes. When the commercials become the price of survival, then your serious writer and director leaves the medium altogether.

I DON'T THINK sponsored television will disappear altogether. If you wanted to play "Concentration" or to watch Dick Clark's teenagers dancing to rock'n' roll music, or to see "Secret Storm," it would have to be on free television because no one in his right mind would pay to see those things.

I'm convinced that even quite popular shows on free TV never would make the switch to pay TV because people have a different set of values when they pay to see something.

A concert by the Philharmonic would not attract an audience big enough to interest Procter & Gamble, but it sure would attract a big enough one to interest Sol Hurok, whereas no one would pay 10 cents to see "Name That Tune"—the rating notwithstanding.

Besides, all the arguments are going to pale eventually before the single overriding argument of economics. If costs continue to mount, the advertisers won't be able to pay the bills and it will have to be pay TV.

Bathhouse, Kiddie Pool, Walk Slated At Ashley Facility

ASHLEY—The Elm Valley Swimming Pool, Inc., today issued a report on its annual stockholders meeting. A financial report showed $19,371 total cash on hand at the beginning of the project last spring with a balance of $878 after deducting for supplies and equipment and $510 in the revenue fund, leaving a total balance of $1,389.

All officers were re-elected and Forrest Henry was elected to the Board of directors for three years.

Plans to finance the construction of a bath house, kiddie pool and promenade walk around the pool were made. Each stockholder will be asked to purchase additional shares so that at least $4,000 can be raised.

Walt, I'll have to have some new clothes. I just haven't a thing to wear!
You have plenty of summer dresses. Nobody down there has seen them.
But they're terribly out of style. Some of them are a year old!

But I'd rather stay at home than not have some really new things. I just hate to be conspicuous.

Navigational Menace Finally Cleared by Navy

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The old battleship San Marcos, once the battleship Texas, has at last lost her title as a menace to navigation in Chesapeake Bay.

The USS Salvager reported her at least 20 feet below the surface after exploding 1,500 tons of explosive on her rusted hulk. The San Marcos was sunk by guns of the Battleship New Hampshire in 1920. Before that she was used as a target in other firepower demonstrations, including a bombing by Brig. Gen. Billy Mitchell. The Navy has made numerous efforts and exploded many tons of explosives in an effort to destroy the wreckage.

Service Club Sees Movie on Bridges

Richard Coulson and Jack Flohr were guests at the regular meeting of the Marion 20-30 Club held Thursday evening at the YMCA.

The program was presented by the Marion Society of Professional Engineers in observance of National Engineers Week. Roland Bellegarde, a structural engineer with Floyd Browne and Associates, showed a film on suspension bridges. It described the construction of the Delaware Memorial Bridge linking Delaware and New Jersey and the Paseo Bridge at Kansas City, Mo.

Reports were given by the district convention and Easter egg hunt committees.

Children of the Bible

ABISHAG

"So they sought for a fair damsel throughout all the coasts of Israel, and found Abishag, a Shunammite . . ."

—I Kings 1:3

A strange-sounding name to our ears—Abishag.

But she was a young virgin of great beauty; in fact, an early version of our beauty contest winners. For she was selected from many girls of her age as the fairest damsel in the land.

King David's emissaries brought her back to the palace in hopes the sight of her would rekindle the old fires of love and passion that had once burned in the shepherd king.

Abishag spent her early childhood in the town of Shunem, not far from Mt. Tabor, the celebrated mountain of Galilee. No doubt it was the most memorable sight of her early years; for it stands in isolated grandeur in the middle of a large plain.

It is still regarded as a holy place, and was believed by some early writers to be the scene of Christ's Transfiguration.

In Abishag's day, the mountain and the plain around it were already a famous battleground; it was here that "Sisera, the captain of Jabin's army, with its chariots and its multitudes" had fought.

The Bible does not tell us exactly what effect Abishag had on David, although it says that she "cherished the king, and ministered to him."

But, although the old king did not take her as one of his wives in a literal sense, she was regarded as an official part of the royal household.

It was for this reason that, after David's death, when young Adonijah petitioned Saul for Abishag as his wife, he was charged with treason. According to the law, it was a serious matter for a subject to take something belonging to the Crown—even a beautiful young girl who deserved marriage and happiness.

Death was the penalty for Adonijah's request—probably because Bathsheba feared that Adonijah might still get the throne from her son, Solomon.

Abishag was an innocent, but legal, means of bringing about Adonijah's death.

Perle Whitehead, deputy regional scout executive for Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia, spoke to members of the Marion Kiwanis Club Thursday noon at Hotel Harding.

Mr. Whitehead spoke on "Service," pointing out the various opportunities available to the average citizen for service to an organization in which he may participate, whether it be scouting, a service club, the church or others.

The satisfaction derived from service is one of the most gratifying rewards one can receive, he said.

Guests at the meeting were Marvin Stein of Euclid, Paul Love, Robert Bosh and John Wettergren of Marion.

Mexico ceded New Mexico and California to the United States in 1948 for 15 million dollars.

Yugoslavians To Observe Two Galion Clothes Plants at Work

GALION — A group of Yugoslavians will come to Galion next month to observe the sewing and knitting operations of two Galion garment manufacturing firms.

The visit is scheduled for March 9-10. Galion is the only city of its size to entertain this group of Yugoslavians while they are in the United States to observe the clothing manufacturing business. They hope to be able to increase productivity and lower costs of the enterprise in Yugoslavia.

Head Nation's Industries

The nine visitors will be accompanied by two interpreters and one escort. They are at the helm of men's and women's clothing industries. Most representing fairly large firms that employ 4,000 people, while the others are from plants which have about 200 employed.

In Galion the visitors will make a tour and observe operations at the Stratbury Manufacturing Co. and the Ohio Overcoat Co. They will have the opportunity to study plant layout, work layout, flow of materials, quality control, maintenance, lighting, special machinery, packaging, accounting methods, duties and responsibilities of management.

When the delegation arrives in Galion at 3 p.m. March 9 they will be given a "bird's eye-view" of Galion. In the evening they will be guests of the Galion Rotary Club for a dinner. They will spend the evening and night at the Swiss Village Motel. Tuesday's activities will include the visit and tour of the two factories.

Second Luncheon Planned

Arrangements are underway by another service club to entertain the Yugoslavian visitors at a luncheon Tuesday noon before they leave at 3 p.m. for Cincinnati.

Gene L. Keener, executive director of the Galion Chamber of Commerce, made arrangements to bring the group here with L. O. Mellen of Cleveland, president of Training Within Industry, Inc.

The Stratbury Manufacturing Co. makes topcoats, overcoats and sportscoats for men, and also a women's boy coat.

The Ohio Overcoat Co. makes men's topcoats, sportscoats and overcoats.
